"BILLY" RISK IS TO BE NOTIFIED

Arrangements Are Completed For the
Big Republican Love Feast at Newcastle Next Monday.

COMPLETION OF EARLY PLANS

James E. Watson, W. G. Harding of
Ohio, and Dr. J. W. Hill of New York Are Speakers.

William L. Risk of Henry county, the Republican nominee for congress from the Sixth district, will be officially notified of his nomination in a great Republican conclave, love feast and reunion to be held in this city next Monday afternoon and night, says the Newcastle Courier. The popular nominee will be greeted by the Republican hosts of the Sixth district, who will come here in great numbers from every county in the district.

The speakers for the occasion will be Warren G. Harding of Ohio, former candidate for governor; John Wesley Hill, a prominent Methodist Episcopal preacher of New York, and president of the International Peace Forum, and James E. Watson, former congressman. Harding and Hill will speak in the afternoon and Watson will deliver an address at night. The afternoon meeting will be an open air event and will probably be held in front of the court house. At night Watson will speak in one of the theaters.

Preliminary arrangements for the meeting were completed Monday afternoon by James H. Jones and J. R. Hinshaw. They were in communication with the state and national committees and secured the services of the speakers.

The details of the notification meeting were to be arranged Tuesday night at a meeting to be held in the Republican headquarters.

The members of the notification committee appointed by the district convention are Allen Wiles, Fayette county; John Kimball, Franklin county; George W. Williams, Henry county; Verne Norris, Rush county; Elmer Bassett, Shelby county; Perry J. Freeman, Wayne county; Ora Myers, Hancock county and Charles W. Stivers, Union county.

The Risk notification will be one of the biggest political gatherings to be held in Indiana this campaign. It will be practically the opening of the campaign in the Sixth district. Republicans of prominence from all over the state and district will be here. Assurances were received Monday night from Shelbyville that twenty automobile loads of Republicans will be here for the event. Wilfred Jessup, the Richmond attorney, was here Monday and announced that Richmond and Wayne county would be represented by a large delegation.

The speakers secured for the event are men of national reputation. Warren G. Harding of Ohio is one of the most brilliant men in the public life of the Buckeye state. He placed President Taft in nomination at the Chicago convention. He is an eloquent orator and a logical speaker.

Rev. Hill has a world-wide reputation as an orator. As president of the International Peace Forum, interested in world's peace, he has spoken in many countries. He is one of the best orators at the command of the Republican national committee.

Hon. James E. Watson needs no introduction to audiences of the Sixth district. His matchless oratory, his logical conclusions and his splendid argument have won for him a great following.

BIEDERWOLF IN SERMON, 'HOME'

It's a Place, Evangelist Says, That
Hardly Menas What it Once
Did.

ALL KINDS OF HOMES, TOO

Urges Parents to Take Beer Out of
Cellar and Impure Pictures
From Walls.

The tabernacle was partially filled at the second meeting of the county evangelistic campaign last night. Dr. Biederwolf exerted himself until the perspiration poured from his face and his voice grew husky. It was his first sermon, and it made a lasting impression on the audience.

Dr. Biederwolf announced a half dozen meetings he has under contract for the winter. He will go from here to Grand Rapids, Mich., and to a number of other cities several times the size of Rushville.

A pleasing feature of the meeting last night was the appearance of Elvin R. Roper, a well known evangelist pianist, who was with Dr. Biederwolf at Piqua, Ohio, in 1911, and who has been with him in other meetings. Mr. Roper's stay here will be indefinite. He is special pianist for E. O. Excell, the celebrated song writer, and is a special favorite at Wipona where he has appeared often. Mr. Roper enchanted the audience last night with his rendition of his beautiful chimes and the marvelous expression he puts in Gospel music.

Last night Dr. Biederwolf preached a powerful sermon for the return of the Christian home with its respect for sacred things and for the elimination of acts in the lives of parents, that are causing their children to drift away to worldliness and to hell. For an illustration, he gave a thrilling story of his own narrow escape from drowning off the coast of Florida some years ago, when he had allowed the current to carry him too far out in the sea.

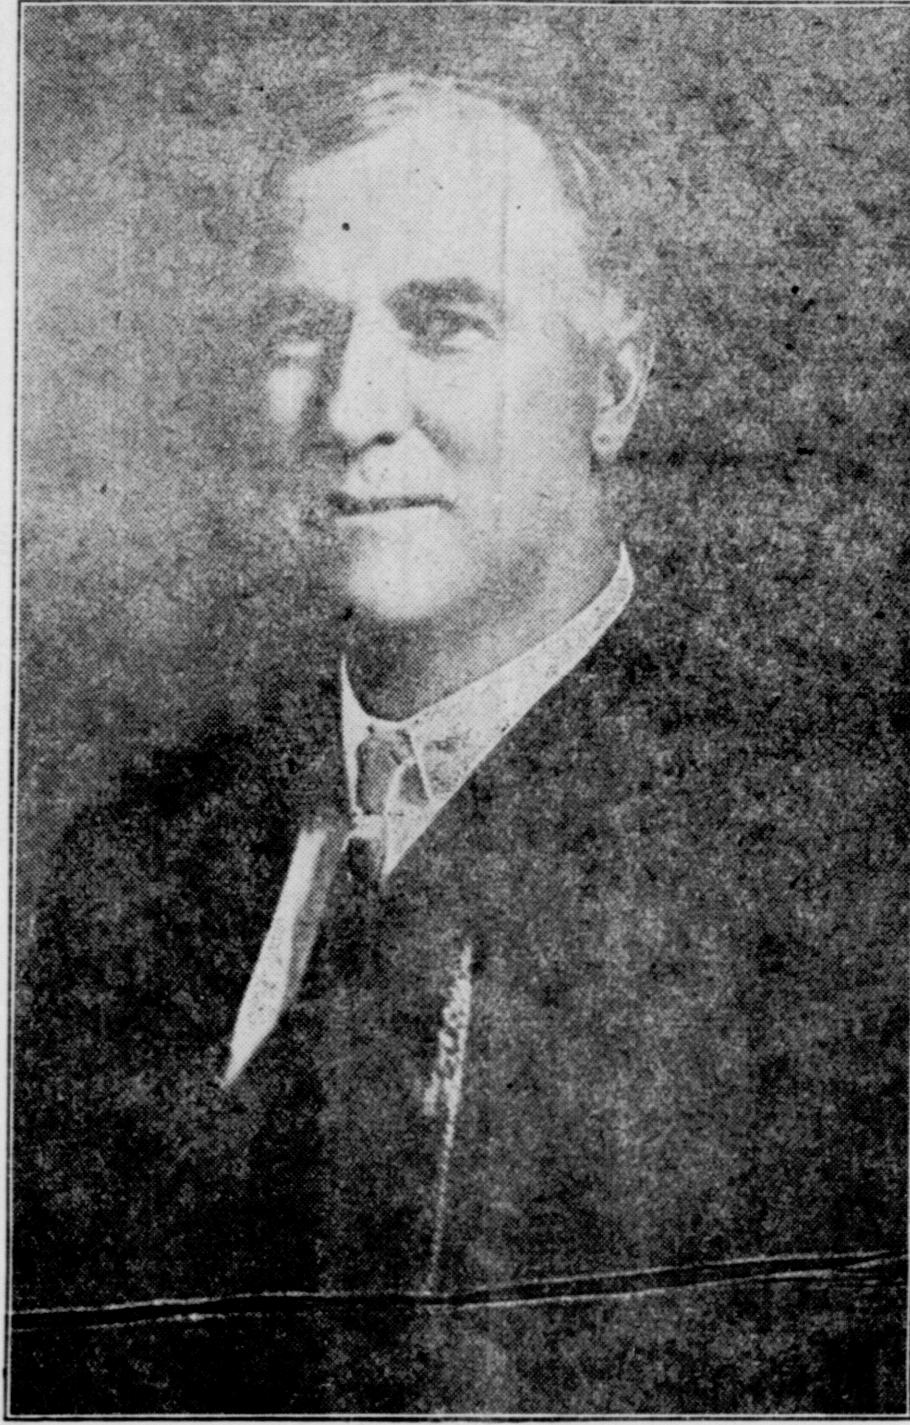

He gave an aerial demonstration of swimming and floating, rushed back and forth across the platform in imitation of the ebb and flow of the billows and finally, when one wave larger than the rest had left him weak and exhausted in eighteen inches of water the evangelist got down on his knees and sank to the floor to show the terrible condition he was in after his fearful struggle.

The evangelist told how some fathers fail to get acquainted with their children; that it is the inconsistent lives of people that are damning those whom in their better moments, they would like to have saved; that it would not be so bad for ungodly parents to go to hell alone, for hell could tolerate them and heaven spare them, if they have made up their minds to sneer at God. But the pity of it all is that they are taking their children along with them. Dr. Biederwolf made parents understand that the boy who can't be controlled at six will be an outlaw at sixteen and in the penitentiary at twenty-one.

He roared wives who use a long galling gun of a tongue on their husbands and make hells out of homes; he told mothers that if their little girls have a dirty contemptible, mean disposition, they got it from them and that instead of "my child is the worst in the neighborhood," it may be that she has the worst mother in the neighborhood. And how the "kiddies" on the front seat laughed when Biederwolf got after the mothers who apparently take pleasure in using on the children the "much abused Solomon's rod which is hung behind the

LIGHTS ON AUTO IGNITE GASOLINE

Bad Fire is Narrowly Averted at Ball
Garage by Men's Presence of Mind.

THE ALARM REGISTERS WRONG

A bad fire was averted yesterday evening by the presence of mind of employees of Merrill Ball's garage in Second street. Charles Frye, an oil inspector of Raleigh, drove his automobile in front of the garage to get gasoline. The tank is out in front near the lights. Mr. Frye neglected to turn out the lights when he started filling the tank, and the lights ignited the gasoline. The auto was swathed in flames in almost an instant. Someone had the presence of mind to jerk out the nozzle connecting the large tank of gasoline at the edge of the curb with the automobile and push the machine back so that the big tank of the highly explosive fluid did not catch fire. Fire extinguishers in the garage soon put the blaze out. Charles Bissell, an employee of the garage, was badly burned on the right hand in attempting to extinguish the fire.

A fire alarm was turned in from box No. 25, corner of Perkins and Second streets. The bell rang 25, but the register at central fire station showed box No. 24, which caused the company to make a run to No. 24, corner of Perkins and Sixth streets before it located the fire.

THIS FROM COLLIER'S

Muncie Press: Colliers' Weekly, which has always been idolatrous in its devotion to Colonel Roosevelt, can not stomach his talk about being a crusader against the interests, and says: As a matter of fact the Morgan interests in general will probably be backing the colonel even more heavily than ever before the campaign is over. On the monopoly issue the principal exponents of the colonel's position are Judge Gary and Mr. Perkins.

TESTIMONIAL AS TO WILK'S WORK

Taxpayers Ask Local Contractor be Given Norman Apple Road Contract and Board Complies.

$50,000 FOR TWO HIGHWAYS

A testimonial as to the esteem in which Phil Wilk, the Rushville road contractor, is held by the taxpayers of Rush county was presented before the commissioners this afternoon in the petition of seventy-one taxpayers demanding that Mr. Wilk be given the contract to build the Norman Apple road in Orange township. Acting accordingly, the commissioners gave Mr. Wilk the job, which is one of the largest ones let in several months. His estimate was $54,789. Several of the petitioners appeared before the board to present their plea. The road was ordered after the majority of the taxpayers in the township voted for it in a special election.

The D. H. Dean road in Rushville township was awarded to the Ohio Construction Company for $4,695. Tom Geraghty was given the contract for repairing the court house assembly floor for $345. The Lie Oneal road was continued. Gordon & Sullivan were allowed an estimate of $1520 on the E. B. Lowden road. The commissioners granted a Milroy committee the permission to use the streets of Milroy for the annual fall horse show.

BACK OF THIRD TICKET.

That the Democratic organization in Henry county is back of the third county ticket proposition was made certain this morning when a well-known leader announced that he could have had $500 from the Democrats if he had agreed to put a county ticket through. He refused, but insists that others accepted the proposition and got the money.—Muncie Press.

GETS RID OF 8 CASES TODAY

ant Suits, One Being 5½

ANDERSON-RYAN CASE OFF

$5000 Damage Suit Against Pennsylvania Railroad is Settled
For $600 by Agreement.

Eight cases of importance were disposed of in circuit court today.

The case of Alonzo L. Stewart against Israel W. Martin for quiet title and cancellation of a lease, one of the oldest cases on the docket, was dismissed for the want of prosecution. The suit was filed in February, 1907. It was brought to determine the ownership of the rooms under the place now occupied by the Social Club.

The case of Sarah M. Moore against Cynthia Davis and others to quiet a title was dismissed by the plaintiff. A similar case, brought against Mrs. Davis by Ira L. Davis for the same purpose was dismissed by the plaintiff.

The case of James T. Irwin against Charles J. Offutt on a breach of warranty, in which five hundred dollars was dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff.

The case of George Pugsley against the Pennsylvania railroad for five thousand dollars damages was settled today by agreement and was dismissed. According to agreement the plaintiff was to get six hundred dollars.

The replevin suit of James W. Anderson, trustee of Richland township, against John W. Ryan, was dismissed by the plaintiff today. He brought the suit to recover a road scraper, belonging to the township, which Ryan kept in his possession, because he contended that he was still the supervisor, when an election had been held to elect a successor. The trustee has recovered the scraper. A grand jury indictment is an outgrowth of the visit of the trustee to Ryan's home to get the scraper, when, it is alleged, Ryan struck the trustee.

Judgment and trial finding for the plaintiff in the sum of $5767 was returned by Judge Blair in the case of the Rushville national bank against C. J. Bickhart, Owen L. Carr and Annie Bickhart on notes and foreclosure of a mortgage. Judgment for $273.80 was returned for the same bank who brought suit on a note against C. J. Bickhart and Owen L. Carr.

The suit on a note of Charles H. Alger against Warren H. Robbins for three hundred dollars was dismissed and the costs paid.

Sexton & McColegin withdrew their appearance for Cora B. Hardwick, administrator of the estate of John Hardwick, who brought suit for ten thousand dollars against the I. & C. on account of the death of her husband, who was killed by an I. & C. car east of the city.

Howard Barrett, city attorney, today filed a demurrer to the complaint in the case of Philip Miller who brought suit against the city, seeking to enjoin it from selling electrical supplies.

PARTNERSHIP DRUNK.

John Clawson of Glenwood and James Healey, who says his home is in Pennsylvania, got drunk together yesterday evening, and were found along the C. H. & D. near Harrison street by the police last evening. Clawson, who is an old offender, was assessed $5 and costs, and the stranger was let down with the minimum, $1 and costs. Both went to jail.

SHORT WORD FOR BEVERIDGE

George B. Lockwood, Stalwart and
Sincere Defender of County Local Option, Digs up History.

FORMER SENATOR, ASSASSIN

Asserts His Story of 1910 Platform
Making is Deliberate Falsehood
Out of Whole Cloth.

George B. Lockwood, editor of the Muncie Press, charges Albert J. Beveridge with uttering a deliberate falsehood in denying responsibility for keeping a county local option plank out of the Republican state platform of 1910.

The county local option issue was the one dearest to the hearts of a large majority of Rush county Republicans in that campaign, and they were sorely disappointed when the state convention ignored it. Mr. Beveridge is trying now to escape responsibility for sidetracking the issue, but Editor Lockwood, who was a member of the committee on resolutions in the state convention of that year, was in a position to know precisely what took place and who was responsible for it. His version of the committee proceedings flatly contradicts that of Mr. Beveridge. His editorial on the subject is as follows:

In a communication to The Indianapolis News Senator Beveridge raises a question more important, so far as his candidacy for governor is concerned, than the tariff, the trusts, or any other issue, state or national, now before the people—and that question is whether a candidate for the highest position within the gift of the voters of this state may with impunity deliberately lie to the people about his own attitude on a question of public concern.

In his letter to the News, Mr. Beveridge says:

"You say that I dictated the platform two years ago. On the contrary some of the most important platform suggestions I made were rejected by the delegates notably a plank for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people and a plank on the temperance question. The brief draft of platform suggestions which I made contained both of these planks."

"The temperance plank was in these words: 'The Republican party never has taken a backward step on any moral question and never will. We favor the maintenance of all temperance laws now on our statute books.'"

The editor of the Press was a member of the platform committee of the Republican state convention two years ago. He has no hesitancy in asserting that this whole statement of Mr. Beveridge is a deliberate misrepresentation put forth for the purpose of deceiving the people.

Every one having the most casual familiarity with politics knows, in the first place, how completely the affairs of the Republican party were within the hands of Senator Beveridge two years ago. In practically every district of the state he was permitted to have his own way in the matter of state organization and the election of delegates to the state convention. It is the acme of effrontery for Senator Beveridge to claim that he did not have his own way in all essential matters at the Republican state convention of 1910.

The resolution committee of the state convention of 1910 was made up practically in its entirety of men selected for the definite purpose of embodying the wishes of Senator Beveridge in the state platform.

NAMING TICKET IN NEW YORK

Spirited Contest Develops Over Gubernatorial Nomination in Republican State Convention Today.

MANY CANDIDATES ARE OUT

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University is Favored—Strause Changes Complexion.

(Special to the Daily Republican.)
Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The Republican State Convention to name a State ticket gathered here today. It seems inevitable that a spirited contest will be developed over the gubernatorial nomination. The rumor that President Taft favors the nomination of Secretary War Stimson for Governor has caused something of a revolt among the leaders of the State, and it is asserted that Stimson's nomination can not be forced even at the request of the President. It is generally admitted that Mr. Stimson's character and ability are of the best standing and that he has made a good Cabinet officer, but the Republican leaders are found to be against him for the gubernatorial nomination at whatever cost. The cry of political interference which brought disaster in the Cleveland-Folger campaign in 1882 will again be brought up, the Stimson opponents said, and such an issue will put a check to any movement to nominate the Secretary of War.

The nomination of Oscar S. Strause by the Progressive party has changed the political situation in New York to a wonderful extent. The leaders say that as a result the voters are assuming an independence that seemed to point to the obliteration of party lines at the coming election unless they were able to get a strong candidate. Many Republicans feel that the nomination should go to either Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University and former Ambassador to Germany.

Strong opposition has developed to the nomination of former Speaker James Wadsworth, Jr., because of the fact that Chairman Barnes is behind him. The favorite for the nomination at present seems to be District Attorney Whitman of New York, but it is admitted that his availability depends on the outcome of the Becker trial in New York, and the leaders believe that the police investigation in the metropolis will probably be still going on long after the election has taken place.

Among the candidates also is Job Hedges, the orator-humorist. No one man seems to have enough support to justify the prediction of his nomination with any degree of certainty.

ANDREW G. CURTIN

Pennsylvania's War Governor
Who Called Notable Conference.

THE TURNING POINT IN GREAT STRUGGLE

Memorable Conference Called
By Governor Curtin.

Altoona, Pa., Sept. 25.—Early this morning President Taft arrived here to make a speech at the meeting of the Loyal War Governors' association and review the parade celebrating the semi-centennial of the notable conference of loyal governors called by Andrew Gregg Curtin, then governor of Pennsylvania, in 1862, just after the battle of Antietam. The decision reached at this conference, all the loyal governors earnestly pledging their utmost support to President Lincoln's course, proved a rallying point in the cause of the north and is regarded as one of the most important events connected with the great war.

A monster crowd has gathered here for the semi-centennial celebration, which will continue three days. The president will depart this afternoon for Philadelphia, where his private car will be attached to the Colonial express for Boston. He will arrive in Boston early tomorrow morning.

BIG CROWDS

McAlester, Okla., Sept. 25.—Enormous crowds, full of enthusiasm, acclaimed Colonel Roosevelt from Tulsa, the first point reached in the state, to McAlester, where he spoke last night. Ten thousand people surrounded his car at Shawnee, and other thousands at Chandler, Holdenville and Sapulpa. It was an astonishing outpouring of people to see the new party nominee.

Spain's Backwardness.

Madrid, Sept. 25.—As the result of an investigation ordered by King Alfonso, the minister of the interior reports that 60 per cent of the land in Spain is uncultivated and 38 per cent is utterly without irrigation. The report shows that 4,500 villages are without roads or railroads; 30,000 towns and villages have no schools, and 12,000,000 of Spain's 17,000,000 inhabitants can neither read nor write.

YOUNGSTERS TO STAY WITH PARTY

Republicans of Younger Generations Are Enrolling in Cause to Re-Elect Pres. Taft.

AS CASE IS IN NEW JERSEY

Marching Clubs Are Being Formed in Every County And Speakers Sent Into Districts.

(Special to the Daily Republican.) New York, Sept. 25.—Coincident with the opening of the national Republican campaign in Columbus the National Republican League began its campaign of the state of New Jersey today.

The Republican National Committee is perfecting campaign plans by which it hopes to secure the vote of the state of New Jersey for President Taft, but no one of these plans is more promising of quick results than the work being carried on through the National Republican League, a subsidiary organization, of which Mr. John Hays Hammond is president.

The National Republican League has as its chief aim the organization of first-voters clubs in all parts of the country—that is, the formation into active Republican clubs of the young men who are about to cast their first vote, but who are uncertain as to what best they can do to advance the cause which they have adopted. To meet this situation Mr. Hammond, at the direction of Chairman Hillis, of the Republican National Committee, has sent a number of young college graduates into the various states in which the League will operate to talk to these young voters and assist them in forming Taft marching clubs and other means of Republican demonstration. These young agents of the national committee, one of whom is now in New Jersey, and who expects to visit every county in the state during the next two weeks, will assure the young Republican leaders in the various committees that their efforts will be supported by the national committee, and that as soon as effective Taft or Republican clubs are formed, speakers will be sent into their districts to keep the movement at full swings.

Chairman Hillis is very hopeful of the new strength and enthusiasm the Republican campaign will receive from the first-voters this year, and is making every effort to get them into a formidable army which can take an active part in the final assault upon the Third Term and Democratic insincerities which has its active beginning today.

WOMEN TO SING TO AID TAFT.

(Special to the Daily Republican.) New York, Sept. 25.—Mrs. Nelson Herriek Henry, wife of the former adjutant general of this state, has been appointed chairman of the advisory board of the women's department of the Republican national committee. This is the position which Miss Mabel Boardman declined. The board is to be made up of one or more women of prominence from each state in the Union. One of the features of the organization will be choral unions in principal cities, each having a professional musical conductor.

WILSON IN CONNECTICUT.

(Special to the Daily Republican.) Hartford, Conn., Sept. 25.—The Democrats of Hartford have planned a large reception for Governor Wilson, the Democratic presidential nominee who speaks here this afternoon at a large meeting. Gov. Wilson will meet and confer with Governor Harmon, who has been renominated by the Democrats as head of the State ticket, and political conditions in the nation and state will be discussed. Upon leaving Hartford, Governor will go to New Haven, where he speaks this evening.

GUARDS SENT TO SANTO DOMINGO

Receipt of Customs Being Interfered With.

UNCLE SAM WON'T STAND IT

The Tendency of Rival Revolutionary Leaders in the Constantly Troubled Isle to Make of the Customs Houses the Chief Prizes in the War Game Is to Be Sternly Suppressed by a Detachment of American Marines.

Washington, Sept. 25.—To protect the customs houses there, a force of 750 marines will be sent to Santo Domingo. President Taft had a conference with Beekman Winthrop, assistant secretary of the navy, at which Mr. Taft approved the plan of sending an armed detachment into Santo Domingo to prevent interference with the customs receivership, which has been administered for the last several years by the United States. The marines will be drawn from the Atlantic coast stations, and will sail from Philadelphia on the transport Prairie tomorrow.

Brigadier General Frank Meyer, U. S. A., chief of the insular bureau of the war department, and W. T. S. Doyle, chief of the Latin American division of the state department, will accompany the expedition to supervise the distribution of the marine guards through the country. The detachment will be in command of Colonel F. J. Moses, U. S. M. C.

There has been a smouldering revolutionary movement in the island for more than a year, although this has caused no actual assault upon any of the American customs houses.

The gunboat Wheeling, which has been in West Indian waters for some months, heretofore has been sufficient to protect the customs houses located in the coast towns. Recently, however, the revolutionary activity has been increasing and the interior customs houses on the mountainous border between Hayti and Santo Domingo have been threatened. In addition to the revolutionary activity there has been more or less smuggling across the border between Santo Domingo and Hayti, and about a year ago several American customs officials were killed in a clash with the smugglers.

There is a border dispute between Hayti and Santo Domingo which also has tended to produce conditions of outlawry in the interior of the island. The political unrest culminated last August in the assassination of President Leconte of Hayti. About a year ago the president of Santo Domingo also was killed.

The officials of the state and war departments are determined not to allow the customs houses in Santo Domingo to be used as prizes for successful revolutionists, and it was decided by the state and navy departments to send a force of marines to Santo Domingo to protect the places from attack. The expedition is said to be temporary, but it is admitted that the marines will be allowed to remain there as long as they are needed.

GRAND JURY

Will Be Called on to Investigate Recent Bank Failure.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Department of justice officials decline to say whether their investigation of the failure of the Second National bank of Cincinnati would warrant prosecution by the authorities of George B. Cox, Republican boss of that city, but it is understood that nothing thus far has been unearthed which would warrant action against Mr. Cox. Cox was a heavy stockholder in the Ford & Johnson Furniture company, loans to which caused the downfall of the Second National. Cox was not an officer in the Second National, but was an officer in a trust company which collapsed at the same time.

It is understood that the case of E. E. Galbreath, who was the president of the Second National and a heavy stockholder in the furniture company, will be presented to the October federal grand jury.

Boy Admits Big Theft.

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 25.—William H. Bell, a twenty-year-old bank clerk and member of one of the most prominent families in the city, has confessed that last Tuesday night he robbed the First National bank of $55,000. He was one of the young men designated to carry $75,000 to the L. & N. train that was said to have been robbed recently.

Why He Opposed It.

London, Sept. 25.—Advocates of admitting women to the legal profession failed to impress the annual conference of the Law Society at Cardiff. The conference by a large majority turned down the proposal. One opponent objected to it on the ground that women had not yet learned to be honest.

No Further Delay.

New York, Sept. 25.—There will be no further delay in trying Lieutenant Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal. Each side appears to be so well satisfied that neither will interpose objections to the trial proceeding on Oct. 7, the date set by Justice Goff.

John T. Winship, Former Democratic State Chairman, Makes Unusual Prediction on Election Result.

BULL MOOSERS ON THE WANE

(Special to the Daily Republican.) Detroit, Mich., Sept. 25.—John T. Winship, formerly chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and a lifetime warhorse of his party, says that Taft is certain to carry the state and that Roosevelt has not the slightest chance of winning Michigan or even of decoying away enough Republican votes to throw the state to Wilson.

"Four years ago," said Winship, "Taft carried Michigan by about 159,000 plurality. I doubt if Colonel Roosevelt can cut into that plurality enough to turn the State over to us. He may possibly give Taft a tight squeeze, although I think the Bull Moose fight is waning in Michigan. Roosevelt himself cannot hope to carry Michigan. The same is true of Maine and Vermont."

DRUMMER ORATOR ON STUMP FOR TAFT

IN EVERY CAMPAIGN LATELY

(Special to the Daily Republican.) New York, Sept. 25.—Isaac Fuld of New York, the "Drummer Orator," has become so interested in the Republican campaign for the re-election of President Taft that he has secured a two months' leave of absence from the commercial house with which he has been connected and will take the stump for the Republican campaign. Mr. Fuld has taken a more or less active part in every presidential campaign during the past sixteen years, but he intends to devote his entire time to the present fight, and has accepted an individual to open his itinerary at Glen Cove L. I. Mr. Fuld has already made a few speeches in behalf of Mr. Taft's re-election, having recently engaged in a joint debate with Mr. Everett Colby, the Progressive leader in New Jersey, in which he was accredited with having put questions to Mr. Colby that were unanswered, and which made a great impression upon the audience.

(Special to the Daily Republican.) Washington, Sept. 25.—Boy scouts from all parts of the country are here today to join in the national competitions to be held in connection with the International Congress of Hygiene and Demography. During the competition the boys will camp on the monument grounds, and there their work will be studied by the physicians attending the Congress of Hygiene.

IS A POP MAKER.

Newcastle Courier: Gurliel Genson, a former Methodist Episcopal preacher and now a pop manufacturer at Shelbyville was nominated for congress by the Bull Moose district convention at Connorsville Monday to succeed Joseph A. Greenstreet of Henry county, who tendered his resignation after being attacked by the Richmond moosers. Genson was the only name presented to the convention and he was nominated by acclamation.

THAT TEMPERANCE PLANK.

When Ananias Judas Beveridge revealed to the world the startling information that two years ago he submitted a temperance plank to the platform committee of the republican state convention the late Baron Munchausen must have rolled over in his grave.—Muncie Press.

SHORT WORD FOR BEVERIDGE

When that committee met a complete platform draft was submitted to the committee by Henry W. Bennett, of Indianapolis, member of the state committee from the Seventh district, and recognized as the intimate friend and spokesman of Senator Beveridge. In the course of the debate on that proposed platform, adopted with slight change by the committee, the direct question was put to Mr. Bennett: "Has Senator Beveridge gone over this proposed platform and does he approve of it?" The reply came from Bennett: "The platform is exactly as he wants it!" The question and answer were called forth by the discussion of the platform plank on the administration, which Senator Beveridge now says he did not favor mentioning at all.

But the most startling falsehood in this statement reeking with falsehood is the declaration of Senator Beveridge that on his behalf there was submitted a temperance plank. The platform as submitted on his behalf contained no declaration whatever on this subject. The proposed temperance plank he alleges he submitted, was placed before the committee by the prospective candidates for state office, who did not agree with Senator Beveridge that the local option issue should be abandoned. This was clearly stated to and understood by the committee. In the presence of the committee the editor of the Press reminded Mr. Bennett that in a conference held a few days before Mr. Bennett, speaking for the Beveridge interests, had agreed that a county local option plank should be included in the platform. Mr. Bennett's reply was that since that conversation occurred, conditions had changed.

Fortunately there is ocular evidence of the falsity of the statement Senator Beveridge makes with such astounding effrontery concerning his part in roadrolling county local option out of the platform. So confident was Senator Beveridge of the disposition of the committee to meet his wishes in the matter of a platform, that before the committee had fairly entered upon its deliberations, he caused to be given out of the press associations an advance copy of the platform as prepared by him and his friends for submission to the committee. Look at the files of the Chicago Tribune. In the issue printed on the morning of the day of the state convention of two years ago will be found the platform as it is alleged to have been written by the committee; as it was, in fact, written by Beveridge and his coterie.

That draft of the platform handed out by the Beveridge organization before the committee had acted contains no temperance plank whatever, proving conclusively that Senator Beveridge utters a deliberate falsehood when he claims that he submitted such a plank. It contains the popular election of senators plank, which Beveridge says he submitted, but which the committee struck out. It does not contain the dollar a day pension plank, inserted at the instance of the editor of the Press. The giving out of this proposed platform, before the resolutions committee had even had a look at it, was in itself the most flagrant manifestation of bossism this state has ever witnessed, but in view of the fact that this act has furnished indubitable evidence of the mendacity and utter unreliability of Beveridge, the people after all are to be congratulated upon the outcome of this particular piece of effrontery.

Beveridge further says: "I did not know until the morning of the convention what the platform would contain." And yet Beveridge spent an hour in the University Club during the night-time hours before the convention wrangling with Elam H. Neal, one of his appointees and another Eleventh district Republican, quarrelling with them because of the attitude of the editor of the Press on the resolutions committee, and his threat to carry a minority report on county local option to the floor of the convention.

That Senator Beveridge should have the audacity to engage in falsification so sweeping about a matter concerning which so many people have knowledge, is astounding, but in so doing he has demonstrated his utter unfitness to fill any position of trust. The man who would lie to the people in a matter of this sort, on an issue in which hundreds of thousands of Indiana people are deeply concerned would lie to them in any other matter, and is worthy only of condemnation and distrust.

In another paragraph of his letter to the News Senator Beveridge denied that he was the absolute dictator of the state campaign of two years ago. He alleges that he left the state central committee entirely free to carry out its own plan of campaign. Every man who had to do with the campaign of two years ago knows that the state committee officials were the mere puppets of Senator Beveridge. A meeting of forty Indiana newspaper publishers was held in Indianapolis during the campaign for the purpose of protesting against the policy of making the fight along insurgent lines. A committee of five men was appointed to call upon Chairman Lee and urge that a plan of campaign more conducive to party harmony and party success be adopted. To this committee Chairman Lee made the reply: "You will have to see the man higher up." The man higher up was Senator Beveridge. He personally bossed the entire campaign, and his denial of this is astonishing to those who do not realize the lengths to which Beveridge effrontery and mendacity habitually goes.

As we said in the beginning, the issue raised by this statement of Beveridge is bigger than any other of the campaign. Beveridge has demonstrated that he is utterly insincere and untruthful; that he would, if he could, fool the people as to the facts concerning his attitude of two years ago on what thousands of people believed to be the most important issue in the campaign. He does not rise, in this matter, above the dignity of a common liar.

2200 IN TREASURY DEPARTMENT

(Special to the Daily Republican.) New York, Sept. 25.—Chairman Hillis is receiving demands from negroes in all parts of the country to be supplied with the pamphlet which the Republican campaign managers have issued on "The Republican Party and The Afro-American," the negroes wishing to use the booklet in their fight for the re-election of Mr. Taft. It shows that 22,400 negroes are employed by the Federal government at an annual cost to the government of $12,596,760.

Henry W. Furness, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States to Hayti, who receives a salary of $10,000 a year, is the highest paid negro in the service.

A number of negroes receive from $2,500 to $5,000 annually. About 2,200 work in the Treasury Department at an annual compensation collectively of $1,500,000. That is the largest number in one department.

Taft Men Dishonest.

Doubtless the thousands of supporters of William Howard Taft for re-election to the presidency on the Republican ticket will be deeply grieved to learn that Theodore Roosevelt, the man who stood sponcan be had at off seasons. Goods sold now bring a profit. A dollar spent in advertising now should save the loss of many dollars on goods that must be disposed of at a sacrifice later to get ready for another season.

If you have any exceptionally good values for the money, they will be more likely to attract attention now than at off season times; because there is less price-cutting now to compete with.

The merchant who has bought goods at reasonable prices will find them exceptionally welcome at this season before special sales have begun. Tell the public about them! They'll respond!

The Democratic platform denounced the "profligate waste of money by the Republicans" and then went to work and appropriated substantially the same amounts for their own pork barrels.

GIVES RECITAL
IN RICHMOND

Carl Morris, Rush County Boy Delights Large Audience in Murray Theater There.

CROWD IS APPRECIATIVE ONE

Critic Says he Does Not Suffer by Comparison With Orville Harrold.

That this city is in favor of Sunday concerts of high grade was demonstrated Sunday afternoon when the Murray theater was comfortably filled to hear the New York baritone, Carl Morris, in song recital, says the Richmond Palladium.

Mr. Morris is regarded as one of the most promising of the younger orator and concert vocalists, and is constantly advancing in his art and in the graces of the public.

His audience Sunday was a cordial and appreciative one, testified to by the long and continued applause after each number and the numerous encores.

One of the anomalies of the musical art is that which sometimes served its devotees an ill turn after a long and severe initiate by sacrificing quality to technique. In other words, talents in learning its principles. In the loss of the effectiveness of the medium through the latter's translation; in not being able to sing after he knows how.

This is not the instance, however, with Mr. Morris.

Mr. Morgan has a remarkable vocal organ, fresh, unspoiled, rich and full of color, with exquisite nuances of tone and of overwhelming dramatic possession.

While Mr. Morris is appealing in his lyric presentations, he dominates in the big dramatic numbers, for his voice has a certain histrionic quality rare enough among either concert or operatic singers.

This is in contradistinction to the endowment of histrionic ability in the theatre art. The former is a purely dramatic vocal possession.

To splendid effect was this heard in his aria, "The Prologue" from Pagliacci, whose intense climaxes lent themselves with fine éclat to Mr. Morris' vocalism. Most interesting was the presentation of this number in what comparisons could be drawn between that of the singer of Sunday and of Orville Harrold, who appeared here a few weeks ago and who gave this celebrated number.

Harrold's voice is tenor.

Harrold had a long experience in presentation in the operatic version. And yet Morris did not suffer by comparison with his more famous confere.

Morris, in short, is supremely dramatic.

This was shown in his singing of the operatic numbers from Handel and Sarti—both now little heard from the concert platform. They are musically, looked upon as somewhat archaic, as belonging to a former period of the development and manifestation of musical art, and yet this singer fused them with such life, fire and vivacity that they gave the effect of extremely modernity.

The program, in short, was varied and catholic in character, and that every number was given with equal success goes to show the vocal catholicity of its exponent.

It was, in fact, a remarkable vocal demonstration and not one often duplicated on the concert platform save occasionally among those celebrities who have the assurance of long experience.

It is well for the local public to remember this since it was an evidence of musical versatility and virtuosity that this public has very infrequently the opportunity of witnessing.

No number on the program was sung with more musicianship than that by Strauss, whose difficulties were comprehended and overcome by Mr. Morris, nor still the "Eros" of Grieg, that perverse Scandinavian composer, nor of the "Embarquez-vous" of Godard, he group of French songs, of which the latter was the fourth, were among the most beautifully interpreted of the afternoon.

Among the more purely lyric numbers, Rubenstein's "Tear" with words by that lyricist poet, Thomas Moore, was given with exquisite tenderness. "The Crescent Moon" too, by Wilfred Sanderson, was sung with depth of feeling and the charming little "Banjo Song" by Homer, interpreted with the proper appreciation of its peculiar charm.

The two songs welcomed by those who care for the literature as well as well as the music of a song, were "Invictus," by Bruno Huhn, whose words are that magnificent apostrophe to the integrity of the individual and the imperishability of the soul, written by Ernest Henley, the English poet, and friends of Robert Louis Stevenson, himself, as his friend, a life long invalid. Mr. Morris sang this with thrilling effect both in its intellectual, spiritual and its musical significance and has the gratitude of many in his audience for including it in his program.

The non-arrival of the well known critic and composer, Franz X. Arens, who was expected for the concert since he was to have passed through Richmond enroute to New York, was a disappointment, but his representation on the program in "Mission" was interesting, Mr. Morris giving Mr. Arens' dramatic excerpt with force and dramatic acumen.

Altogether Mr. Morris' program was a remarkable one in both matter and presentation and his appearance here one of the notable musical events of the past few seasons.

DAMAGE SUIT IS LIKE MARY'S LAMB

Case of Hazel Boring Against George
Bassett For $3000 Follows
Judge Blair Everywhere.

HERE ON CHANGE OF VENUE

The three-thousand-dollar damage suit of Hazel Boring against George Bassett follows Judge Blair where ever he goes, be it in Shelby county or in Rush county. The suit was first filed in his court, the circuit court, in Shelby county. He transferred the case to the superior court which is in session at Shelbyville while the circuit court is open here. One of the parties to the case asked for a change of venue and it was agreed to send it here, which was done today. So Judge Blair will have to hear it after all.

Hazel Boring asked damages because of injuries she sustained when a horse drawing a buggy in which she and Amy Smith were riding was frightened by an automobile driven by the defendant. She alleges she was thrown out and badly hurt, due to the negligence of the auto driver who was signaled, she maintains, to be careful but did not heed the warning. She declares the horse broke loose from the buggy after she and Miss Smith were dumped into the road. The defendant is a brother of Elmer Bassett of Shelbyville, former Republican Sixth district chairman, and he is one of the attorneys who will defend George Bassett.

(Copyright, 1912, A. C. McClurg & Co.)
It was nearly midnight, and I was leaving her, my car waiting in the sopping driveway to carry me home. "You are not to worry any more than you possibly can help," she told me, with a brave little smile, "for we are going to succeed. And tomorrow you must go to your office, and keep very, very silent about what has happened. And then you are to come to me again in the evening, and I will tell you all I have learned."

With which she gave me her hand to kiss, in the odd little French way she had—a way that could scarcely have been a part of her convent teaching. As I come to review these matters now, it seems singular that I should have so readily consented to be guided by this girl's will in a case of such grave importance; yet I cannot but believe there was something providential both in her assumption of leadership and in my own unquestioning acquiescence. For the day of office work and silence, which she enjoined, was exactly what I needed to restore my nerves to their normal tension. It was, in fact, a sort of counter-irritant, which brought me up standing, with a revived self-confidence and recuperated energy.

So when, a little before five o'clock that afternoon, just as I was making ready to run for my train, I heard Evelyn's voice over the telephone, I was fairly tingling with ardor for the game; and her request to call on Professor Griffin, the expert in Oriental literature, who occupied a chair in Columbia college, and lived a mile or more back from the Greenwich station, was a welcome call to action.

Very briefly she explained that she had seen the professor that morning, and had laid before him the original letter and my copies of the others, and that he had kindly promised to make a careful study of them and acquaint her with the result later in the day. She thought it better, however, that I should call upon him for his conclusions, she said, as they would probably be verbal, and she doubted her own ability to convey them to me with entire accuracy. Of course she had told him nothing as to the circumstances surrounding the letters. As they bore no dates, and were undressed, she had him to infer that they were autographic curiosities belonging to her uncle, in which we were all three interested.

I had met Professor Griffin on several occasions. Once or twice he had contributed articles to The Week, and while we were scarcely intimate, we were on terms of friendly acquaintanceship. He was an oldish, white-haired gentleman, of rather the ascetic type, with long, somewhat peaked face, and light, watery blue eyes, which seemed to bulge behind the strong lenses of his gold-bowed spectacles.

He received me in his study, a spacious, book-lined room on the second floor of his old Colonial stone house. "I have been deeply interested, Mr. Clyde," he began, "in the autographs and copies which Miss Grayson brought to me. They are unique specimens of English composition, in that the Oriental influence is so clearly demonstrated throughout. Do you.

RELIEVES CATARRH IN ONE HOUR

The quickest and easiest way to open up your mucous clogged head and free the throat from Catarrhal secretions is to breathe Booth's HYOMEI.

Don't waste time with impossible methods: HYOMEI has ended the misery of Catarrh for thousands of despairing sufferers; it will do the same for you if you will give it a fair trial.

Just breathe it; it kills Catarrh germs and banishes Catarrh. A HYOMEI outfit, which includes inhaler, costs $1.00. Separate bottles, if afterwards needed, 50c, at pharmacists everywhere. Money back from F. B. Johnson & Co., if dissatisfied.

by any chance, know where Mr. Cameron obtained them?"

I was hardly prepared for this question, but I answered as promptly as possible that they had recently come into my friend's possession, I believed, but from just what source I had not learned.

The three sheets lay before him on the writing-shelf of his old-fashioned mahogany secretary; and now he took up one of the copies, holding it at some distance from his eyes, as though his glasses, thick as they were, were not as powerful as his sight required.

"The three writings," he went on, in the tone of a classroom lecturer, "evidently form a series, of which, I take it, this is the first."

"The one which says, 'Take warning of what shall happen on the seventh day?'" I queried.

"Yes. That is the first. The other of the copies, in which occurs the phrase 'once more,' is, of course, the second. And the original autograph is the last."

"Exactly," I agreed. It seemed to me that all this was very obvious, but in courtesy I could not say so.

"All three," he continued sagely, "begin, as you must have observed, with the same sentence, 'That which you have wrought shall in turn be wrought upon you.' That is a quotation."

"A quotation!" I exclaimed, in surprise.

"A quotation from Mencius, the great expositor of Confucius, who lived B. C. 372 to 289. In the original, a word meaning 'Beware' precedes the warning, and a more literal translation of the passage would be: 'Beware! What proceeds from you will return to you again.'"

It seemed to me this was taking a great deal for granted. I feared that the professor, like many savants who specialize, was straining the fact to fit his theory, but he very promptly disabused me.

"The supposition that the words are a paraphrase of Mencius," he explained, "would not be tenable, perhaps—the idea is not anomalous—were it not that we find running through the series, other quotations that are unquestionably of Chinese origin. The first letter, for example, concludes with: 'The ways of our God are many. On the righteous he shows blessings; on the evil he pours forth misery.' This is from the Book of History, or 'Shu King,' in which are the documents edited by Confucius himself. It usually has been rendered in this way: 'The ways of God are not invariable. On the good doer he sends down all blessings, and on the evil doer he sends down all miseries.' That is the more exact rendering. And again, in the second letter we find—" He paused a moment, taking up the second sheet, and focusing his dim eyes upon the lines. "We find," he went on, "Fine words and a smiling countenance make not virtue," which is from the Lunhu, or 'Analects' of Confucius, in which the views and maxims of the sage are retailed by his disciples. 'Smiling countenance' is hardly the best translation. 'Insinuating appearance' is more nearly the English equivalent, and I should prefer 'are rarely connected, or associated, with virtue' to 'make not virtue.'"

"Those, of course, are unmistakably translations," I agreed.

"And so are the concluding sentences of the third, the autograph, letter," he assured me. "Say not Heaven is high above! Heaven ascends and descends about our deeds, daily inspecting us, wheresoever we are." I find it in one of the sacrificial odes of Kan, and it is the best rendered of all the excerpts.

"So your conclusion as to the authorship is—" I queried.

"Chinese, undoubtedly," he answered. "These were written, I should say, by a Chinaman, educated, probably, in this country. His English is the English of the educated Oriental, but the quotations from Confucius and his commentators are characteristic. With the average Chinaman, to know Confucius is to know all; what he said is all-sufficient; what he did not say is not worth saying. Another identifying feature is the effort to make afraid. Their religion is fear."

Having concluded his exposition, Professor Griffin was disposed to enter upon a more or less lengthy discourse on Chinese character and literature in general. However illuminative this might have been under ordinary conditions, I was assuredly in no mood to listen to it at this time.

The information he had given me, while it merely verified suspicions which I had held from the first, set me to speculating on the individual source of the letters; and with so modern an instance at hand I was naturally disinclined to consider the authorship of writings dating back often a thousand years and more beyond the Christian era.

With what grace I could, therefore, I discouraged a continuance of the theme, and having thanked him most heartily, pocketed the notes with which he was good enough to furnish me, and prepared to depart. But as I stood at his study door, his lean, scholarly hand resting in mine, he detained me for a final word.

"The symbol!" he exclaimed, his pale eyes lighting at the recollection. "We forget the symbol!"

"Oh, yes," I returned, my interest revived, "that silhouette at the bottom."

"It is unmistakably Chinese," he said. "I am not very familiar with the symbolism of the East, not as familiar as I should be, possibly; but Chinese writing, you know, in its origin, is picture writing with the addition of a limited number of symbolical and conventional designs. This figure, I should say, represents a lorch, or small Chinese coasting junk, and you can rest assured that the threats contained in the letters were with a view to reparation for some crime or injury connected in some way with such a vessel. That is as near as I can interpret it. But if you would like to know more—if you would like to get something more nearly definite—I can refer you to one who can, I think, give you the information."

"By all means," I implored, "I shall appreciate it greatly."

"An authority on this subject is living not very far from here. He spent many years in China, is something of an artist himself, and made, I understand, a study of Oriental symbolism. He lives at Cos Cob, and his name is—"

"Murphy!" I interrupted, as a flood of illumination swept over me.

"Philetus Murphy. Yes. Do you know him?"

"I have met him," I returned shortly.

And thanking the professor once more, I hurried away, with a course of action already shaping in my mind.

CHAPTER XI.

The Chinese Merchant.

It was while Professor Griffin was talking of Chinese characteristics that the thought of little Mow Chee first occurred to me. The professor said something about the average Chinaman's disinclination to speak of death, directly, and how he invariably employed some euphemism. The phrase "pass from sight of men into torment" the professor pointed out as an illustration. And then I remembered little Mow Chee, who was in my class at Yale, and how, once, in speaking of the demise of a fellow classman, he had used the odd expression, "he has saluted old age," which I afterwards learned was quite a common form in China.

It was now a year or more since I had seen Mow Chee, but I recalled that at our last meeting I had made a note of his address; and so on reaching my desk the next morning I looked it up. Curiously enough a private detective agency which I had arranged to consult chanced to have its office in the same building on lower Broadway as the Pacific Transport company, by which Mow Chee was employed; and thus the plan which had been shaping mentally the previous afternoon, as I hurried away from Professor Griffin's, was readily set in motion before noon of the day following.

In the evening I had discussed it with Evelyn; and though the detective feature did not at first meet with her approval, she eventually conceded that it was a necessary part of the project. It was agreed, however, that the real purpose for which that aid was invoked should not be divulged. Philetus Murphy was to be shadowed and daily reports were to be made to me. That he had been under suspicion of brutally murdering his Chinese servant was sufficient reason for the proceeding, and to the detective agency I gave no hint of any further consideration.

As for my Celestial classmate, I was not by any means sure that I should find him at the Pacific Transport offices. I knew that for some time China had been calling upon her sons of western education to return to their mother country for service, and I feared that little Mow Chee might already be customs taktai of Shantung, or some other imperial province. But my misgivings were very promptly allayed; for no sooner had I stepped within the outer office than he saw me, and came hastily forward, with a smile of greeting on his square, flattened, yellow face.

His desk was just back of the long counter which ran the length of the room, and a glance at its piled contents showed me that he was very busy. Moreover, there was no opportunity here for the privacy which I desired; so after an exchange of greetings, and a few conventional inquiries, I invited Mow to lunch with me at the Savarin, at whatever hour would best suit his convenience.

Somewhat to my dismay, he fixed upon one o'clock. As it still wanted ten minutes of noon I now had over an hour of leisure, which, as may be imagined, promised to hang rather heavy, the more so, as I was impatient to make some real progress in my quest.

Wall street being at hand, I concluded to call on a friend there who usually handles my investments, and make a convenience of his office. On the way, I bought an afternoon paper, and as my broker happened to be at the Stock Exchange, I had ample opportunity to read it from first column to last. It proved about as thrillingly interesting as the early afternoon reprints of what one has already read at breakfast usually are, and I was about to drop it to the floor, when my eye caught a group of headlines on the last page, which, up to that moment, had escaped me, but which now suddenly riveted my attention:

CELESTIAL CLAIMS MYSTERIOUS BOX ON FALL RIVER PIER.

Anything concerning Celestials, I suppose, would have attracted me, just then, but the burden of this was so peculiarly pertinent, that it seemed as if it must have intimate connection with the tangle I had undertaken to unravel.

With the paper gripped tightly in both hands, and my head bent intently forward, I raced through the frivolously-written article which followed; and from a superabundance of cheap wit and East side slang managed to extract the somewhat meager facts. A truck, driven by a Chinaman, it seemed, had that morning taken from the pier of the Fall River Line a square box, measuring about five feet each way, and perforated with a number of auger holes. The brilliant space-writer had given his imagination free rein as to the contents, speculating as to the possibilities, from edible Chinese dogs to smuggled opium, but he had omitted to furnish the name and address of either the consignee or consignor.

"The truck, drawn by the slant-eyed white horse, and driven by the phlegmatic Chink, clattered away in the direction of Mott street," the account concluded.

After all, it was a very commonplace, everyday occurrence. Probably the auger holes were only knot holes, transformed by the reporter's imagination. Nevertheless, I thrust the paper into my pocket. Mow Chee might throw some light on the matter. He would know, in all likelihood, what sort of goods were shipped by way of the Fall River Line to his countrymen in New York.

We secured a corner table in the inner room at the Savarin. It was not so crowded there and it was less bustling and noisy. My companion attracted some little attention, of course, but not sufficient to prove annoying. New York, as a rule, pays small heed simply to the unusual, and Chinamen are common enough not to be absolute curiosities even in the big downtown restaurants.

SIGNS POINT TO A "DARK HORSE"

New York Republicans Apparently Perplexed.

A MIGHTY QUEER CONVENTION

Several Unprecedented Features Mark Today's Gathering at Saratoga, Among Which Are Noted Apathy of Party Leaders, Slim Attendance and Apparent Inability to Unite on Any of the Avowed Candidates.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 25.—In many respects this is a mighty queer Republican convention. In the first place there is the slimmest attendance of any convention within the annals of the party in this state. Usually 5,000 persons attend a Republican state convention, no matter where held in the state or in what month of the year. All told after careful investigation, there are not more than 1,500 present on the field, and when it is recalled that of this number 1,015 are delegates, it will be easily apparent that there is either a lack of interest in the result of this convention or that folks are too busy to leave their vocations to attend a political gathering. Then, too, there is only a meager representation of the notable men of the party.

Senator Root, William Barnes, B. B. Odell, Mr. Ivins, Mr. Berri, Mr. Payne and several others, including Chairman Parson and President Koenig, sat in a spacious room in one of the big cottages of the United States hotel discussing planks to be submitted to the committee on resolutions. Apparently they have taken no interest in the fortunes of the various candidates for governor and for state officers. The open and avowed candidates for governor are ex-Judge Job Hedges, ex-Speaker Wadsworth, and ex-Representative Bennet. But the delegates are doing a good deal of thinking themselves. Many are inclined to insist upon Oscar S. Straus's nomination, even though most of the leaders do not see their way clear to nominate Mr. Straus and preserve the autonomy of their state organization. Ex-Attorney General John C. Davies, however, declared that the Republicans could do no better or wiser act.

While admitting Mr. Straus's vote getting powers, the leaders object to his nomination in this convention because he has arrayed himself with Colonel Roosevelt in his attacks on the Republican party, both in the state and the nation.

There is a statement going the rounds to the effect that eventually Secretary of War Henry M. Stimson will come to the front as the leading candidate for governor. The strength of Mr. Stimson, it was declared, would be that he, more than any other candidate, would represent the constitutional qualities and sane administration of President Taft. On the other hand the delegates who believe in Hedges, Wadsworth and Bennet assert that Mr. Stimson's nomination would not do at all; that the opposition would criticize and attack it as unwarranted evidence of presidential interference in a state convention and that the results on election day would recall 1882, when President Arthur dictated the nomination of his secretary of the treasury, Charles J. Folger. There is a suspicion, however, that some hitherto unmentioned Republican is to run away with the nomination for governor. This suspicion is indefinable, but it is in the air.

Beck Condemns New Law.
New York, Sept. 25.—In an opinion written by James M. Beck for the American Newspaper Publishers' association, the new federal law affecting newspapers and other periodicals, a rider of the postoffice appropriation bill, approved on Aug. 24, 1912, is set down as "unconstitutional and void."

Auto Bandits Again Busy.
New York, Sept. 25.—Auto bandits again became active when two well-dressed men, ignoring the presence of nearby policemen, blackjacked John Popper, a merchant at Ninth avenue and Seventeenth street, then sped away in a motor car with $1,551 swag.

Baby Scalded to Death.
Shelbyville, Ind., Sept. 25.—Earl Kanarr, eighteen months old, son of W. M. Kanarr, who moved here a few days ago from Greensburg, Ind., was fatally scalded at his home when he pulled a boiler of hot water upon his head.

MR. TAFT CONFIDENT OF HIS RE-ELECTION

Formal Statement Expresses Certitude of Result.

New York, Sept. 25.—Before leaving for Altoona, President Taft, at the home of his brother, Henry W. Taft, gave out a statement to the newspaper men.

"When I declared, a few weeks ago that I felt reasonably sure of my own re-election in November and the success of the Republican party," the president said, "I was regarded by some as entirely over- sanguine and unaware of the situation. Today, however, after a number of indications, that the Republican party is still the dominant party, and that the expected growth of Democratic strength has failed to materialize, my early declaration is shown to be entitled to respect. The Republicans necessarily will have a reduced majority over 1908 because of the presence of three tickets in the field, but the Democratic party will suffer, also. The combined strength of the third term party will not be enough to change the ultimate result."

"It is scarcely necessary for me to point to the necessity of re-establishing a Republican majority in the house of representatives. If this is done, I feel confident that I will be able to have placed on the statute books the workmen's compensation law which I urged upon the last session, but which was sent to oblivion by the Democratic house. If the country will give the Republican party a complete victory in its congressional as well as its presidential ticket, a proper tariff revision bill will be speedily effected with knowledge of the facts ascertained by a tariff commission, which will harm no one and remove its present defects."

SHIPPERS FACE GRAVE PROBLEM

Car Shortage Is Giving No End of Concern.

STATE COMMISSION ACTIVE

Co-operating With Railroad Officials, Indiana State Railroad Commission Is Urging Shippers in This State to Do All in Their Power to Facilitate the Movement of Cars by Prompt Loading and Unloading.

Indianapolis, Sept. 25.—The car shortage problem has become grave in Indiana, according to assertions of attaches of the state railroad commission. The shortage all over the country has been the subject of many conferences of railroad officials on all lines for the last month and the situation is growing more serious daily. The state commission some time ago issued a circular to Indiana shippers, urging them to co-operate in the movement to facilitate the movements of cars by quick loading and unloading. Farmers in all parts of the country are unable to get cars to market their grain and coal men and others are as seriously handicapped. According to figures given out by the Indiana commission there was a shortage of 6,400 cars in the states of Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and western Pennsylvania last Saturday. Care on the part of shippers to expedite the movement of any cars billed to or sent out by them should help the situation, according to the attaches of the commission.

FATAL MISTAKE

Lowell Man Thought Neighbor Was Burglar and Shot From Window.

Lowell, Ind., Sept. 25.—Because he could not hear a challenge when he was mistaken for a burglar, William Gray, a deaf mute, was shot and killed. Gray started for his home at night after a day out of town. His home is located between those of Mrs. Breese Webb and Grover Lloyd. By mistake he went to the door of the Webb home, which is much like his own. Mrs. Webb heard someone trying to unlock the door. She screamed. Her screams aroused Lloyd, who went to a window in his own house, saw the man tampering with the lock, thought he was a burglar and shouted. Gray could not hear and continued to work at the lock. Then Lloyd fired to frighten Gray. The bullet struck the cement sidewalk and glanced, entering Gray's skull.

Deaths From "External" Causes.

Indianapolis, Sept. 25.—There were nine murders and forty-four suicides in Indiana in the month of August, according to figures made public by the state board of health. Eight men and one woman were murdered and thirty-five men and nine women committed suicide. Accidents were responsible for 193 deaths, according to the state board's report, making a total of 246 deaths during the month from "external" causes—192 men and 54 women.

The Deadly Kerosene.

Angola, Ind., Sept. 25.—Chifton Cole is dead, his wife cannot survive, and her mother, Mrs. Butcher, is badly burned as a result of Mr. Cole trying to hurry a fire in a cook stove. The explosion enveloped him in flames, and the bed in which his wife was sleeping caught fire. Mrs. Butcher went to Cole's assistance and was badly burned about the neck and arms.

Two Gary Fatalities.

Gary, Ind., Sept. 25.—Adam Adamovich, twenty-eight years old, was killed by electricity while at work at the Gary steel mill works. While crossing the street in front of her home, Mary Flaws, eight years old, was run down by an automobile driven by Arthur McCormick, sixteen years old. The child died in McCormick's arms.

JAMES SMITH

Former United States Senator Failed in Desire to Go Back.

PICKED CANDIDATE WINS OUT EASILY

Wilson's Man Carries the New Jersey Primaries.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 25.—Former Representative William Hughes of Paterson, as indicated by returns from the primary elections held throughout New Jersey yesterday, has received the indorsement of a large majority of the Democratic voters for the United States senate.

With a few exceptions the returns justify the expectation that Hughes carried the various counties by from two to three times the vote cast for former United States Senator Smith, his principal Democratic antagonist. Hughes was running as the picked candidate of Governor Wilson, and Smith was allied with the anti-Wilson forces throughout the state.

The vote for the third Democratic candidate, F. H. McDermott of Newark, was a negligible quantity, as his candidacy was never taken seriously. The Republican preferential vote was cast almost unanimously for United States Senator Briggs, the only member of his party to file a petition.

The third party movement cut no figure in the primary, as there is no provision in the law under which such a party could be recognized either in the preferential vote for United States senator or in the nominations for congress, state senators, members of the legislature and county and city offices, which were also made by the two major parties.

Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Sept. 25.—It has developed that Harry Jones, known as the "whispering burglar" to the local police, and who is locked up in the White Plains jail awaiting trial for the robbery of the residence of Frank R. Chambers, is wanted in Ohio for murder. Chief of Police Foley says that he has received, is known as Fred Fawcett, alias Monk Fawcett, alias Harry Harper, and that he is under indictment at Youngstown, O., for the killing of Patrolman Alfred Evans, Nov. 4, 1911.

Jones is a giant negro who is alleged to have served three years in the Columbus, (O.) prison.

Teachers as Detectives.

Marion, Ind., Sept. 25.—As a result of "blind tiger" investigations made by C. O. St. John and J. A. Crawford, teachers at the Marion high school, seven men pleaded guilty to the illegal sale of liquor before Mayor Wilson and were fined $50 each. The school teachers said they had no trouble in getting in any of the places, and while strangers to the proprietors, obtained whisky at each place.

INTEREST SHOWN IN HOME SUNDAY

Fast Contest Expected When Newcastle and Locals Get Together at South Main Street Park.

RUSHVILLE IS AFTER REVENGE

Maxwell Coming on Special Train Over Big Four Accompanied by 300 Fans.

Great interest is being shown by the fans in the game here Sunday between Newcastle and the locals. The original schedule has been "shot to pieces" by the weather man and the two teams have not been able to play for the last two Sundays. The largest crowd of the season at the local park will greet the Maxwell team.

It will be the first game for some time in this city and the fans are base ball hungry. Besides this Rushville is after revenge for that 4 to 3 defeat and a real base ball game is expected. Manager Maibach will use every effort to capture the game. He has a world of confidence in his team and the lineup will be changed but slightly. To beat the locals Newcastle will have to be in the game all the time and Dal Williams knows he has no cinder.

The Newcastle fans will come on a special train over the Big Four. The train will leave Newcastle at noon and stops will be made at Shirley, Knightstown and Carthage. A number of fans from these towns will witness the game. It is expected that 300 Newcastle rooters will accompany the Team. The game is the second of the series for the championship of Eastern Indiana.

The Newcastle Courier says: The base ball schedule of games between the Maxwell and Rushville clubs, which has been put out of commission for two Sundays because of rain, will be resumed next Sunday with a game at Rushville. The Maxwell team will make the trip on a special excursion train and will be accompanied by a big bunch of fans.

Manager Williams of the Maxwells expects to take an unusually strong club to Rushville. Walters or Maxwell will pitch.

MARRIED FOURTH OF JULY

But Fireworks in Bowen Home Didn't End Until Sept. 7.

According to a divorce complaint filed in the circuit court today Isaac G. Bowen and Emma Lushel Bowen were married the Fourth of July, 1910, but the fireworks did not end until September 7, 1912, when they separated. Mr. Bowen charges Mrs. Bowen with cruel and inhuman treatment; that she swore and cursed at him in private and before others and that she used vulgar and profane language so that his home was unbearable. There are no children.

motto, "God bless our home," or "I need Thee every hour."

He asked parents to take the beer out of their cellar, the impure pictures from their walls and the cards from their tables.

"Home sweet home!" exclaimed Dr. Biederwolf after reciting a verse of the famous old song. "Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home. And as I mention that word tonight you are no longer here in this great assemblage of people, but your hearts have gone with a flight swifter than the flash of a sparkling star back to the green hills of Pennsylvania, or to the red soil of Georgia, to the whispering pines of New England, or it may be over the water that rolls between other lands and ours—back to some spot that has been dearer and sweeter than all the rest—back to the place we call home.

"Now, it is a sad fact, but it's true, that home hardly means to us what used to be. The conditions of modern civilization have robbed the home of its rightful place in our lives. Simplicity has given way to complexity; quiet has been superseded by noise; the cottage has deferred to the flat, and even the stone front of the wealthy merchant is for him but little more than ordinary lodging house or quick lunch counter."

"Oh, yes, much occupied fathers and mothers, you will make the mistake that never can be rectified when you begin to neglect the opportunity to make the home what it ought to be," he continued. "You are up early and at it late, if perchance a fortune may be made; but that fortune may prove to be a curse to your children rather than a blessing, and a curse it certainly will prove if while you have been making it you have neglected the better and higher legacy which every parent owes its offspring. No time for the home if the honor that glitters in the distance can be attained, but if it is reached under such circumstances it will be at a price all too dear to pay."

"BILLY" RISK IS TO BE NOTIFIED

Arrangements Are Completed For the
Big Republican Love Feast at Newcastle Next Monday.

COMPLETION OF EARLY PLANS

James E. Watson, W. G. Harding of
Ohio, and Dr. J. W. Hill of New York Are Speakers.

William L. Risk of Henry county, the Republican nominee for congress from the Sixth district, will be officially notified of his nomination in a great Republican conclave, love feast and reunion to be held in this city next Monday afternoon and night, says the Newcastle Courier. The popular nominee will be greeted by the Republican hosts of the Sixth district, who will come here in great numbers from every county in the district.

The speakers for the occasion will be Warren G. Harding of Ohio, former candidate for governor; John Wesley Hill, a prominent Methodist Episcopal preacher of New York, and president of the International Peace Forum, and James E. Watson, former congressman. Harding and Hill will speak in the afternoon and Watson will deliver an address at night. The afternoon meeting will be an open air event and will probably be held in front of the court house. At night Watson will speak in one of the theaters.

Preliminary arrangements for the meeting were completed Monday afternoon by James H. Jones and J. R. Hinchlaw. They were in communication with the state and national committees and secured the services of the speakers.

The details of the notification meeting were to be arranged Tuesday night at a meeting to be held in the Republican headquarters.

The members of the notification committee appointed by the district convention are Allen Wiles, Fayette county; John Kimball, Franklin county; George W. Williams, Henry county; Verne Norris, Rush county; Elmer Bassett, Shelby county; Perry J. Freeman, Wayne county; Ora Myers, Hancock county and Charles W. Stivers, Union county.

The Risk notification will be one of the biggest political gatherings to be held in Indiana this campaign. It will be practically the opening of the campaign in the Sixth district. Republicans of prominence from all over the state and district will be here. Assurances were received Monday night from Shelbyville that twenty automobile loads of Republicans will be here for the event. Wilfred Jessup, the Richmond attorney, was here Monday and announced that Richmond and Wayne county would be represented by a large delegation.

The speakers secured for the event are men of national reputation. Warren G. Harding of Ohio is one of the most brilliant men in the public life of the Buckeye state. He placed President Taft in nomination at the Chicago convention. He is an eloquent orator and a logical speaker.

Rev. Hill has a world-wide reputation as an orator. As president of the International Peace Forum, interested in world's peace, he has spoken in many countries. He is one of the best orators at the command of the Republican national committee.

Hon. James E. Watson needs no introduction to audiences of the Sixth district. His matchless oratory, his logical conclusions and his splendid argument have won for him a great following.

BIEDERWOLF IN SERMON, 'HOME'

It's a Place, Evangelist Says, That
Hardly Menas What it Once
Did.

ALL KINDS OF HOMES, TOO

Urges Parents, to Take Beer Out of
Cellar and Impure Pictures
From Walls.

The tabernacle was partially filled at the second meeting of the county evangelistic campaign last night. Dr. Biederwolf exerted himself until the perspiration poured from his face and his voice grew husky. It was his first sermon, and it made a lasting impression on the audience.

Dr. Biederwolf announced a half dozen meetings he has under contract for the winter. He will go from here to Grand Rapids, Mich., and to a number of other cities several times the size of Rushville.

A pleasing feature of the meeting last night was the appearance of Elvin R. Roper, a well known evangelist pianist, who was with Dr. Biederwolf at Piqua, Ohio, in 1911, and who has been with him in other meetings. Mr. Roper's stay here will be indefinite. He is special pianist for E. O. Excell, the celebrated song writer, and is a special favorite at Winona where he has appeared often. Mr. Roper enchanted the audience last night with his rendition of his beautiful chimes and the marvelous expression he puts in Gospel music.

Last night Dr. Biederwolf preached a powerful sermon for the return of the Christian home with its respect for sacred things and for the elimination of acts in the lives of parents, that are causing their children to drift away to worldliness and to hell. For an illustration, he gave a thrilling story of his own narrow escape from drowning off the coast of Florida some years ago, when he had allowed the current to carry him too far out in the sea.

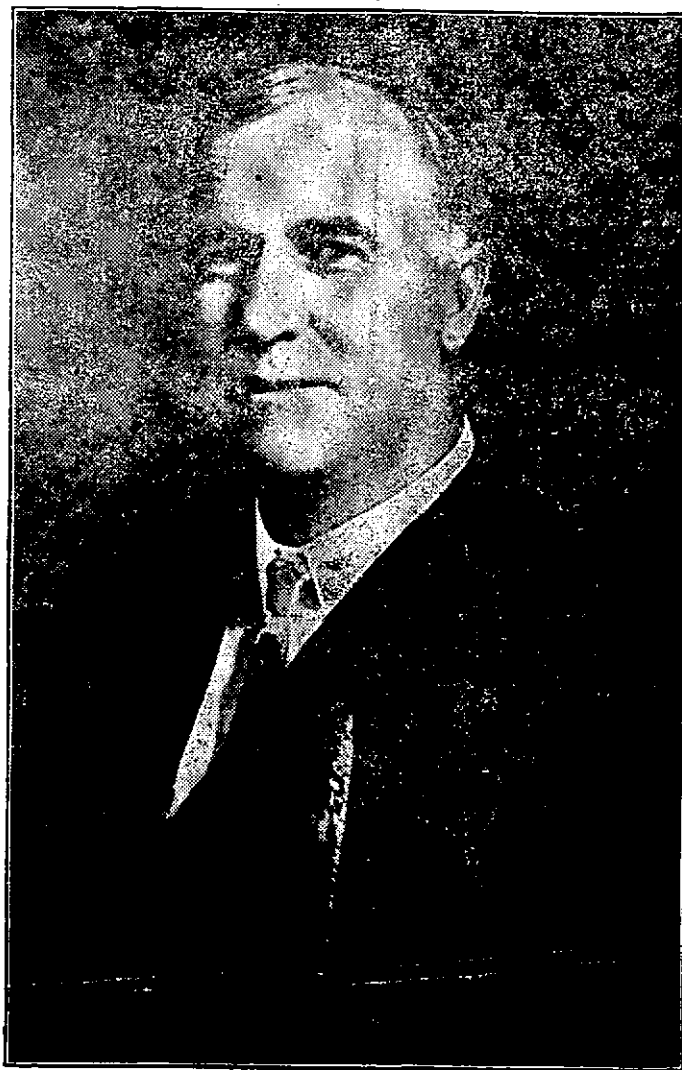

He gave an aerial demonstration of swimming and floating, rushed back and forth across the platform in imitation of the ebb and flow of the billows and finally, when one wave larger than the rest had left him weak and exhausted in eighteen inches of water the evangelist got down on his knees and sank to the floor to show the terrible condition he was in after his fearful struggle.

The evangelist told how some fathers fail to get acquainted with their children; that it is the inconsistent lives of people that are damning those whom in their better moments, they would like to have saved; that it would not be so bad for ungodly parents to go to hell alone, for hell could tolerate them and heaven spare them, if they have made up their minds to sneer at God, but the pity of it all is that they are taking their children along with them. Dr. Biederwolf made parents understand that the boy who can't be controlled at six will be an outlaw at sixteen and in the penitentiary at twenty-one.

He roasted wives who use a long galling gun of a tongue on their husbands and make hells out of homes; he told mothers that if their little girls have a dirty contemptible, mean disposition, they got it from them and that instead of "my child is the worst in the neighborhood," it may be that she has the worst mother in the neighborhood. And how the "kiddies" on the front seat laughed when Biederwolf got after the mothers who apparently take pleasure in using on the children the "much abused Solomon's rod which is hung behind the

Garage by Men's Presence of Mind.

THE ALARM REGISTERS WRONG

A bad fire was averted yesterday evening by the presence of mind of employees of Merrill Ball's garage in Second street. Charles Frye, an oil inspector of Raleigh, drove his automobile in front of the garage to get gasoline. The tank is out in front near the lights. Mr. Frye neglected to turn out the lights when he started filling the tank, and the lights ignited the gasoline. The auto was swathed in flames in almost an instant. Someone had the presence of mind to jerk out the nozzle connecting the large tank of gasoline at the edge of the curb with the automobile and push the machine back so that the big tank of the highly explosive fluid did not catch fire. Fire extinguishers in the garage soon put the blaze out. Charles Russell, an employee of the garage, was badly burned on the right hand in attempting to extinguish the fire.

A fire alarm was turned in from box No. 25, corner of Perkins and Second streets. The bell rang 25, but the register at central fire station showed box No. 24, which caused the company to make a run to No. 24, corner of Perkins and Sixth streets before it located the fire.

On the monopoly issue the principal exponents of the colonel's position are Judge Gary and Mr. Perkins.

TESTIMONIAL AS TO WILK'S WORK

Taxpayers Ask Local Contractor be Given Norman Apple Road Contract and Board Complies.

$50,000 FOR TWO HIGHWAYS

A testimonial as to the esteem in which Phil Wilk, the Rushville road contractor, is held by the taxpayers of Rush county was presented before the commissioners this afternoon in the petition of seventy-one taxpayers demanding that Mr. Wilk be given the contract to build the Norman Apple road in Orange township. Acting accordingly, the commissioners gave Mr. Wilk the job, which is one of the largest ones let in several months. His estimate was $54,789. Several of the petitioners appeared before the board to present their plea. The road was ordered after the a majority of the taxpayers in the township voted for it in a special election.

The D. H. Dean road in Rushville township was awarded to the Ohio Construction Company for $4,695. Tom Geraghty was given the contract for repairing the court house assembly floor for $345. The Lien Oneal road was continued. Gordon & Sullivan were allowed an estimate of $1520 on the E. B. Lowden road. The commissioners granted a Milroy committee the permission to use the streets of Milroy for the annual fall horse show.

BACK OF THIRD TICKET.

That the Democratic organization in Henry county is back of the third county ticket proposition was made certain this morning when a well-known leader announced that he could have had $500 from the Democrats if he had agreed to put a county ticket through. He refused, but insists that others accepted the proposition and got the money.—Muncie Press.

ANDERSON-RYAN CASE OFF

$5000 Damage Suit Against Pennsylvania Railroad is Settled
For $600 by Agreement.

Eight cases of importance were disposed of in circuit court today.

The case of Alonzo L. Stewart against Israel W. Martin for quiet title and cancellation of a lease, one of the oldest cases on the docket, was dismissed for the want of prosecution. The suit was filed in February, 1907. It was brought to determine the ownership of the rooms under the place now occupied by the Social Club.

The case of Sarah M. Moore against Cynthia Davis and others to quiet a title was dismissed by the plaintiff. A similar case, brought against Mrs. Davis by Ira L. Davis for the same purpose was dismissed by the plaintiff.

The case of James T. Irwin against Charles J. Offutt on a breach of warranty, in which five hundred dollars was dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff.

The case of George Pugsley against the Pennsylvania railroad for five thousand dollars damages was settled today by agreement and was dismissed. According to agreement the plaintiff was to get six hundred dollars.

The replevin suit of James W. Anderson, trustee of Richland township, against John W. Ryan, was dismissed by the plaintiff today. He brought the suit to recover a road scraper, belonging to the township, which Ryan kept in his possession, because he contended that he was still the supervisor, when an election had been held to elect a successor. The trustee has recovered the scraper. A grand jury indictment is an outgrowth of the visit of the trustee to Ryan's home to get the scraper, when, it is alleged, Ryan struck the trustee.

Judgment and trial finding for the plaintiff in the sum of $5767 was returned by Judge Blair in the case of the Rushville national bank against C. J. Bickhart, Owen L. Carr and Annie Bickhart on notes and foreclosure of a mortgage. Judgment for $273.80 was returned for the same bank who brought suit on a note against C. J. Bickhart and Owen L. Carr.

The suit on a note of Charles H. Alger against Warren H. Robbins for three hundred dollars was dismissed and the costs paid.

Sexton & McCollin withdrew their appearance for Cora B. Hardwick, administrator of the estate of John Hardwick, who brought suit for ten thousand dollars against the I. & C. on account of the death of her husband, who was killed by an I. & C. car east of the city.

Howard Barrett, city attorney, today filed a demurrer to the complaint in the case of Philip Miller who brought suit against the city, seeking to enjoin it from selling electrical supplies.

PARTNERSHIP DRUNK.

John Clawson of Glenwood and James Healey, who says his home is in Pennsylvania, got drunk together yesterday evening, and were found along the C. H. & D. near Harrison street by the police last evening. Clawson, who is an old offender, was assessed $5 and costs, and the stranger was let down with the minimum, $1 and costs. Both went to jail.

SHORT WORD FOR BEVERIDGE

George B. Lockwood, Stalwart and
Sincere Defender of County Local Option, Digs up History.

FORMER SENATOR, ASSASSIN

Asserts His Story of 1910 Platform
Making is Deliberate Falsehood
Out of Whole Cloth.

George B. Lockwood, editor of the Muncie Press, charges Albert J. Beveridge with uttering a deliberate falsehood in denying responsibility for keeping a county local option plank out of the Republican state platform of 1910.

The county local option issue was the one dearest to the hearts of a large majority of Rush county Republicans in that campaign, and they were sorely disappointed when the state convention ignored it. Mr. Beveridge is trying now to escape responsibility for sidetracking the issue, but Editor Lockwood, who was a member of the committee on resolutions in the state convention of that year, was in a position to know precisely what took place and who was responsible for it. His version of the committee proceedings flatly contradicts that of Mr. Beveridge. His editorial on the subject is as follows:

In a communication to The Indianapolis News Senator Beveridge raises a question more important, so far as his candidacy for governor is concerned, than the tariff, the trusts, or any other issue, state or national, now before the people—and that question is whether a candidate for the highest position within the gift of the voters of this state may with impunity deliberately lie to the people about his own attitude on a question of public concern.

In his letter to the News, Mr. Beveridge says:

"You say that I dictated the platform two years ago. On the contrary some of the most important platform suggestions I made were rejected by the delegates notably a plank for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people and a plank on the temperance question. The brief draft of platform suggestions which I made contained both of these planks."

"The temperance plank was in these words: 'The Republican party never has taken a backward step on any moral question and never will. We favor the maintenance of all temperance laws now on our statute books.'"

The editor of the Press was a member of the platform committee of the Republican state convention two years ago. He has no hesitancy in asserting that this whole statement of Mr. Beveridge is a deliberate misrepresentation put forth for the purpose of deceiving the people.

Every one having the most casual familiarity with politics knows, in the first place, how completely the affairs of the Republican party were within the hands of Senator Beveridge two years ago. In practically every district of the state he was permitted to have his own way in the matter of state organization and the election of delegates to the state convention. It is the acme of effrontery for Senator Beveridge to claim that he did not have his own way in all essential matters at the Republican state convention of 1910.

The resolution committee of the state convention of 1910 was made up practically in its entirety of men selected for the definite purpose of embodying the wishes of Senator Beveridge in the state platform.

NAMING TICKET IN NEW YORK

Spirited Contest Develops Over Gubernatorial Nomination in Republican State Convention Today.

MANY CANDIDATES ARE OUT

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University is Favored—Strause Changes Complexion.

(Special to the Daily Republican.)
Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The Republican State Convention to name a State ticket gathered here today. It seems inevitable that a spirited contest will be developed over the gubernatorial nomination. The rumor that President Taft favors the nomination of Secretary War Stimson for Governor has caused something of a revolt among the leaders of the State, and it is asserted that Stimson's nomination can not be forced even at the request of the President. It is generally admitted that Mr. Stimson's character and ability are of the best standing and that he has made a good Cabinet officer, but the Republican leaders are found to be against him for the gubernatorial nomination at whatever cost. The cry of political interference which brought disaster in the Cleveland-Folger campaign in 1882 will again be brought up, the Stimson opponents said, and such an issue will put a check to any movement to nominate the Secretary of War.

The nomination of Oscar S. Strause by the Progressive party has changed the political situation in New York to a wonderful extent. The leaders say that as a result the voters are assuming an independence that seemed to point to the obliteration of party lines at the coming election unless they were able to get a strong candidate. Many Republicans feel that the nomination should go to either Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University and former Ambassador to Germany.

Strong opposition has developed to the nomination of former Speaker James Wadsworth, Jr., because of the fact that Chairman Barnes is behind him. The favorite for the nomination at present seems to be District Attorney Whitman of New York, but it is admitted that his availability depends on the outcome of the Becker trial in New York, and the leaders believe that the police investigation in the metropolis will probably be still going on long after the election has taken place.

Among the candidates also is Job Hedges, the orator-humorist. No one man seems to have enough support to justify the prediction of his nomination with any degree of certainty.

ANDREW G. CURTIN

Pennsylvania's War Governor
Who Called Notable Conference.

THE TURNING POINT IN GREAT STRUGGLE

Memorable Conference Called By Governor Curtin.

Altoona, Pa., Sept. 25.—Early this morning President Taft arrived here to make a speech at the meeting of the Loyal War Governors' association and review the parade celebrating the semi-centennial of the notable conference of loyal governors called by Andrew Gregg Curtin, then governor of Pennsylvania, in 1862, just after the battle of Antietam. The decision reached at this conference, all the loyal governors earnestly pledging their utmost support to President Lincoln's course, proved a rallying point in the cause of the north and is regarded as one of the most important events connected with the great war.

A monster crowd has gathered here for the semi-centennial celebration, which will continue three days. The president will depart this afternoon for Philadelphia, where his private car will be attached to the Colonial express for Boston. He will arrive in Boston early tomorrow morning.

BIG CROWDS

Greet Roosevelt on His Trip Through Oklahoma.

McAlester, Okla., Sept. 25.—Enormous crowds, full of enthusiasm, acclaimed Colonel Roosevelt from Tulsa, the first point reached in the state, to McAlester, where he spoke last night. Ten thousand people surrounded his car at Shawnee, and other thousands at Chandler, Holdenville and Sapulpa. It was an astonishing outpouring of people to see the new party nominee.

Spain's Backwardness.

Madrid, Sept. 25.—As the result of an investigation ordered by King Alfonso, the minister of the interior reports that 60 per cent of the land in Spain is uncultivated and 38 per cent is utterly without irrigation. The report shows that 4,500 villages are without roads or railroads; 30,000 towns and villages have no schools, and 12,000,000 of Spain's 17,000,000 inhabitants can neither read nor write.

YOUNGSTERS TO STAY WITH PARTY

Republicans of Younger Generations Are Enrolling in Cause to Re-Elect Pres. Taft.

AS CASE IS IN NEW JERSEY

Marching Clubs Are Being Formed in Every County And Speakers Sent Into Districts.

(Special to the Daily Republican.) New York, Sept. 25.—Coincident with the opening of the national Republican campaign in Columbus the National Republican League began its campaign of the state of New Jersey today.

The Republican National Committee is perfecting campaign plans by which it hopes to secure the vote of the state of New Jersey for President Taft, but no one of these plans is more promising of quick results than the work being carried on through the National Republican League, a subsidiary organization, of which Mr. John Hays Hammond is president.

The National Republican League has as its chief aim the organization of first-voters clubs in all parts of the country—that is, the formation into active Republican clubs of the young men who are about to cast their first vote, but who are uncertain as to what best they can do to advance the cause which they have adopted. To meet this situation Mr. Hammond, at the direction of Chairman Hilles, of the Republican National Committee, has sent a number of young college graduates into the various states in which the League will operate to talk to these young voters and assist them in forming Taft marching clubs and other means of Republican demonstration. These young agents of the national committee, one of whom is now in New Jersey, and who expects to visit every county in the state during the next two weeks, will assure the young Republican leaders in the various committees that their efforts will be supported by the national committee, and that as soon as effective Taft or Republican clubs are formed, speakers will be sent into their districts to keep the movement at full swings.

Chairman Hilles is very hopeful of the new strength and enthusiasm the Republican campaign will receive from the first-voters this year, and is making every effort to get them into a formidable army which can take an active part in the final assault upon the Third Term and Democratic insincerities which has its active beginning today.

WOMEN TO SING TO AID TAFT.

(Special to the Daily Republican.) One of the features of the organization will be choral unions in principal cities, each having a professional musical conductor.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 25.—The Democrats of Hartford have planned a large reception for Governor Wilson, the Democratic presidential nominee who speaks here this afternoon at a large meeting. Gov. Upon leaving Hartford, Governor will go to New Haven, where he speaks this evening.

GUARDS SENT TO SANTO DOMINGO

Receipt of Customs Being Interfered With.

UNCLE SAM WON'T STAND IT

The Tendency of Rival Revolutionary Leaders in the Constantly Troubled Isle to Make of the Customs Houses the Chief Prizes in the War Game Is to Be Sternly Suppressed by a Detachment of American Marines.

Washington, Sept. 25.—To protect the customs houses there, a force of 750 marines will be sent to Santo Domingo. President Taft had a conference with Beekman Winthrop, assistant secretary of the navy, at which Mr. Taft approved the plan of sending an armed detachment into Santo Domingo to prevent interference with the customs receivership, which has been administered for the last several years by the United States. The marines will be drawn from the Atlantic coast stations, and will sail from Philadelphia on the transport Prairie tomorrow.

Brigadier General Frank Meyer, U. S. A., chief of the insular bureau of the war department, and W. T. S. Doyle, chief of the Latin American division of the state department, will accompany the expedition to supervise the distribution of the marine guards through the country. The detachment will be in command of Colonel F. J. Moses, U. S. M. C.

There has been a smoldering revolutionary movement in the island for more than a year, although this has caused no actual assault upon any of the American customs houses.

The gunboat Wheeling, which has been in West Indian waters for some months, heretofore has been sufficient to protect the customs houses located in the coast towns. Recently, however, the revolutionary activity has been increasing and the interior customs houses on the mountainous border between Hayti and Santo Domingo have been threatened. In addition to the revolutionary activity there has been more or less smuggling across the border between Santo Domingo and Hayti, and about a year ago several American customs officials were killed in a clash with the smugglers.

There is a border dispute between Hayti and Santo Domingo which also has tended to produce conditions of outlawry in the interior of the island. The political unrest culminated last August in the assassination of President Leconte of Hayti. About a year ago the president of Santo Domingo also was killed.

The officials of the state and war departments are determined not to allow the customs houses in Santo Domingo to be used as prizes for successful revolutionists, and it was decided by the state and navy departments to send a force of marines to Santo Domingo to protect the places from attack. The expedition is said to be temporary, but it is admitted that the marines will be allowed to remain there as long as they are needed.

GRAND JURY

Will Be Called on to Investigate Recent Bank Failure.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Department of justice officials decline to say whether their investigation of the failure of the Second National bank of Cincinnati would warrant prosecution by the authorities of George B. Cox, Republican boss of that city, but it is understood that nothing thus far has been unearthed which would warrant action against Mr. Cox. Cox was a heavy stockholder in the Ford & Johnson Furniture company, loans to which caused the downfall of the Second National. Cox was not an officer in the Second National, but was an officer in a trust company which collapsed at the same time.

It is understood that the case of E. E. Galbreath, who was the president of the Second National and a heavy stockholder in the furniture company, will be presented to the October federal grand jury.

Boy Admits Big Theft.

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 25.—William H. Bell, a twenty-year-old bank clerk and member of one of the most prominent families in the city, has confessed that last Tuesday night he robbed the First National bank of $55,000. He was one of the young men designated to carry $75,000 to the L. & N. train that was said to have been robbed recently.

Why He Opposed It.

London, Sept. 25.—Advocates of admitting women to the legal profession failed to impress the annual conference of the Law Society at Cardiff. The conference by a large majority turned down the proposal. One opponent objected to it on the ground that women had not yet learned to be honest.

No Further Delay.

New York, Sept. 25.—There will be no further delay in trying Lieutenant Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal. Each side appears to be so well satisfied that neither will interpose objections to the trial proceeding on Oct. 7, the date set by Justice Goff.

SAYS TAFT WILL CARRY MICHIGAN

John T. Winship, Former Democratic State Chairman, Makes Unusual Prediction on Election Result.

BULL MOOSERS ON THE WANE

(Special to the Daily Republican.)

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 25.—John T. Winship, formerly chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and a lifetime warhorse of his party, says that Taft is certain to carry the state and that Roosevelt has not the slightest chance of winning Michigan or even of deceiving away enough Republican votes to throw the state to Wilson.

"Four years ago," said Winship, "Taft carried Michigan by about 159,000 plurality. I doubt if Colonel Roosevelt can cut into that plurality enough to turn the State over to us. He may possibly give Taft a tight squeeze, although I think the Bull Moose fight is waning in Michigan. Roosevelt himself cannot hope to carry Michigan. The same is true of Maine and Vermont."

DRUMMER ORATOR ON STUMP FOR TAFT

IN EVERY CAMPAIGN LATELY

(Special to the Daily Republican.)

New York, Sept. 25.—Isaac Fuld of New York, the "Drummer Orator," has become so interested in the Republican campaign for the re-election of President Taft that he has secured a two months' leave of absence from the commercial house with which he has been connected and will take the stump for the Republican campaign. Mr. Fuld has taken a more or less active part in every presidential campaign during the past sixteen years, but he intends to devote his entire time to the present fight, and has accepted an individual to open his itinerary at Glen Cove, L. I. Mr. Fuld has already made a few speeches in behalf of Mr. Taft's re-election, having recently engaged in a joint debate with Mr. Everett Colby, the Progressive leader in New Jersey, in which he was accredited with having put questions to Mr. Colby that were unanswered, and which made a great impression upon the audience.

IS A POP MAKER.

Newcastle Courier: Gudolf Genson, a former Methodist Episcopal preacher and now a pop manufacturer at Shelbyville was nominated for congress by the Bull Moose district convention at Connorsville Monday to succeed Joseph A. ## THAT TEMPERANCE PLANK.

When Ananias Judas Beveridge revealed to the world the startling information that two years ago he submitted a temperance plank to the platform committee of the republican state convention the late Baron Immanuel must have rolled over in his grave.—Muncie Press.

SHORT WORD FOR BEVERIDGE

When that committee met a complete platform draft was submitted to the committee by Henry W. Bennett, of Indianapolis, member of the state committee from the Seventh district, and recognized as the intimate friend and spokesman of Senator Beveridge. In the course of the debate on that proposed platform, adopted with slight change by the committee, the direct question was put to Mr. Bennett: "Has Senator Beveridge gone over this proposed platform and does he approve of it?" The reply came from Bennett: "The platform is exactly as he wants it!" The question and answer were called forth by the discussion of the platform plank on the administration, which Senator Beveridge now says he did not favor mentioning at all.

But the most startling falsehood in this statement reeking with falsehood is the declaration of Senator Beveridge that on his behalf there was submitted a temperance plank. The platform as submitted on his behalf contained no declaration whatever on this subject. The proposed temperance plank he alleges he submitted, was placed before the committee by the prospective candidates for state office, who did not agree with Senator Beveridge that the local option issue should be abandoned. This was clearly stated to and understood by the committee. In the presence of the committee the editor of the Press reminded Mr. Bennett that in a conference held a few days before Mr. Bennett, speaking for the Beveridge interests, had agreed that a county local option plank should be included in the platform. Mr. Bennett's reply was that since that conversation occurred, conditions had changed.

Fortunately there is ocular evidence of the falsity of the statement Senator Beveridge makes with such astounding effrontery concerning his part in roadrolling county local option out of the platform. So confident was Senator Beveridge of the disposition of the committee to meet his wishes in the matter of a platform, that before the committee had fairly entered upon its deliberations, he caused to be given out of the press associations an advance copy of the platform as prepared by him and his friends for submission to the committee. Look at the files of the Chicago Tribune. In the issue printed on the morning of the day of the state convention of two years ago will be found the platform as it is alleged to have been written by the committee; as it was, in fact, written by Beveridge and his coterie.

That draft of the platform handed out by the Beveridge organization before the committee had acted contains no temperance plank whatever, proving conclusively that Senator Beveridge utters a deliberate falsehood when he claims that he submitted such a plank. It contains the popular election of senators plank, which Beveridge says he submitted, but which the committee struck out. It does not contain the dollar a day pension plank, inserted at the instance of the editor of the Press. The giving out of this proposed platform, before the resolutions committee had even had a look at it, was in itself the most flagrant manifestation of bossism this state has ever witnessed, but in view of the fact that this act has furnished indubitable evidence of the mendacity and utter unreliability of Beveridge, the people after all are to be congratulated upon the outcome of this particular piece of effrontery.

Beveridge further says: "I did not know until the morning of the convention what the platform would contain." And yet Beveridge spent an hour in the University Club during the night-time hours before the convention wrangling with Elam H. Neal, one of his appointees and another Eleventh district Republican, quarreling with them because of the attitude of the editor of the Press on the resolutions committee, and his threat to carry a minority report on county local option to the floor of the convention.

That Senator Beveridge should have the audacity to engage in falsification so sweeping about a matter concerning which so many people have knowledge, is astounding, but in so doing he has demonstrated his utter unfitness to fill any position of trust. The man who would lie to the people in a matter of this sort, on an issue in which hundreds of thousands of Indiana people are deeply concerned would lie to them in any other matter, and is worthy only of condemnation and distrust.

In another paragraph of his letter to the News Senator Beveridge denied that he was the absolute dictator of the state campaign of two years ago. He alleges that he left the state central committee entirely free to carry out its own plan of campaign. Every man who had to do with the campaign of two years ago knows that the state committee officials were the mere puppets of Senator Beveridge. A meeting of forty Indiana newspaper publishers was held in Indianapolis during the campaign for the purpose of protesting against the policy of making the fight along insurgent lines. A committee of five men was appointed to call upon Chairman Lee and urge that a plan of campaign more conducive to party harmony and party success be adopted. To this committee Chairman Lee made the reply: "You will have to see the man higher up." The man higher up was Senator Beveridge. He personally bossed the entire campaign, and his denial of this is astonishing to those who do not realize the lengths to which Beveridge's effrontery and mendacity habitually goes.

As we said in the beginning, the issue raised by this statement of Beveridge is bigger than any other of the campaign. Beveridge has demonstrated that he is utterly insincere and untruthful; that he would, if he could, fool the people as to the facts concerning his attitude of two years ago on what thousands of people believed to be the most important issue in the campaign. He does not rise, in this matter, above the dignity of a common liar.

NEGROES WORKING FOR GOVERNMENT

Chairman Hilles Receives Many Requests For Handbooks to be Used in Campaign.

2200 IN TREASURY DEPARTMENT

(Special to the Daily Republican.)

New York, Sept. 25.—Chairman Hilles is receiving demands from negroes in all parts of the country to be supplied with the pamphlet which the Republican campaign managers have issued on "The Republican Party and The Afro-American," the negroes wishing to use the booklet in their fight for the re-election of Mr. Taft. It shows that 22,400 negroes are employed by the Federal government at an annual cost to the government of $12,559,760.

Henry W. Furnise, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States to Hayti, who receives a salary of $10,000 a year, is the highest paid negro in the service.

A number of negroes receive from $2,500 to $5,000 annually. About 2,200 work in the Treasury Department at an annual compensation collectively of $1,500,000. That is the largest number in one department.

An article that has real merit should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. ## Taft Men Dishonest.

Doubtless the thousands of supporters of William Howard Taft for re-election to the presidency on the Republican ticket will be deeply grieved to learn that Theodore Roosevelt, the man who stood sponcan be had at off seasons. Goods sold now bring a profit. A dollar spent in advertising now should save the loss of many dollars on goods that must be disposed of at a sacrifice later to get ready for another season.

If you have any exceptionally good values for the money, they will be more likely to attract attention now than at off season times, because there is less price-cutting now to compete with.

The merchant who has bought goods at reasonable prices will find them exceptionally welcome at this season before special sales have begun. Tell the public about them! They'll respond!

The Democratic platform denounced the "profligate waste of money by the Republican" and then went to work and appropriated substantially the same amounts for their own pork barrels.

GIVES RECITAL
IN RICHMOND

Carl Morris, Rush County Boy Delights Large Audience in Murray Theater There.

CROWD IS APPRECIATIVE ONE

Critic Says he Does Not Suffer by Comparison With Orville Harrold.

That this city is in favor of Sunday concerts of high grade was demonstrated Sunday afternoon when the Murray theater was comfortably filled to hear the New York baritone, Carl Morris, in song recital, says the Richmond Palladium.

Mr. Morris is regarded as one of the most promising of the younger oratorio and concert vocalists, and is constantly advancing in his art and in the graces of the public.

His audience Sunday was a cordial and appreciative one, testified to by the long and continued applause after each number and the numerous encores.

One of the anomalies of the musical art is that which sometimes serves its devotees an ill turn after a long and severe initiation by sacrificing quality to technique. In other words, berefts the singer of his supreme talent in leaving its principles. In the loss of the effectiveness of the medium through the latter's translation; in not being able to sing after he knows how.

This is not the instance, however, with Mr. Morris.

Mr. Morgan has a remarkable vocal organ, fresh, unspoiled, rich and full of color, with exquisite nuances of tone and of overwhelming dramatic possession.

While Mr. Morris is appealing in his lyric presentations, he dominates in the big dramatic numbers, for his voice has a certain histrionic quality rare enough among either concert or operatic singers.

This is in contradistinction to the endowment of histrionic ability in the theatrical art. The former is a purely dramatic vocal possession.

To splendid effect was this heard in his aria, the "Prologue" from Pagliacci, whose intense climaxes lent themselves with fine elation to Mr. Morris' vocalism. Most interesting was the presentation of this number in what comparisons could be drawn between that of the singer of Sunday and of Orville Harrold, who appeared here a few weeks ago and who gave this celebrated number.

Harrold's voice is tenor.

Harrold had had a long experience in presentation in the operatic version. And yet Morris did not suffer by comparison with his more famous confere.

Morris, in short, is supremely dramatic.

This was shown in his singing of the operatic numbers from Handel and Sarti—both now little heard from the concert platform. They are musically, looked upon as somewhat archaic, as belonging to a former period of the development and manifestation of musical art, and yet this singer fused them with such life, fire and vivacity that they gave the effect of extremely modernity.

The program, in short, was varied and catholic in character, and that every number was given with equal success goes to show the vocal catholicity of its exponent.

It was, in fact, a remarkable vocal demonstration and not one often duplicated on the concert platform save occasionally among those celebrities who have the assurance of long experience.

It is well for the local public to remember this since it was an evidence of musical versatility and virtuosity that this public has very infrequently the opportunity of witnessing.

No number on the program was sung with more musicianship than that by Strauss, whose difficulties were comprehended and overcome by Mr. Morris, nor still the "Eros" of Grieg, that perverse Scandinavian composer, nor of the "Embarquezvous" of Godard, he group, of French songs, of which the latter was the fourth, were among the most beautifully interpreted of the afternoon.

Among the more purely lyric numbers, Rubenstein's "Tear" with words by that lyricist poet, Thomas Moore, was given with exquisite tenderness. "The Crescent Moon" too, by Wilfred Sanderson, was sung with depth of feeling and the charming little "Banjo Song" by Homer, interpreted with the proper appreciation of its peculiar charm.

The two songs welcomed by those who care for the literature as well as well as the music of a song, were "Invictus," by Bruno Hahn, whose words are that magnificent apostrophe to the integrity of the individual and the imperishability of the soul, written by Ernest Henley, the English poet, and friends of Robert Louis Stevenson, himself, as his friend, a life long invalid. Mr. Morris sang this with thrilling effect both in its intellectual, spiritual and its musical significance and has the gratitude of many in his audience for including it in his program.

The non-arrival of the well known critic and composer, Franz X. Arens, who was expected for the concert since he was to have passed through Richmond enroute to New York, was a disappointment, but his representation on the program in "Mission" was interesting. Mr. Morris giving Mr. Arens' dramatic excerpt with force and dramatic acumen.

Altogether Mr. Morris' program was a remarkable one in both matter and presentation and his appearance here one of the notable musical events of the past few seasons.

Months Illness.

FUNERAL WILL BE TOMORROW

Jasper Stevens, age fifty-seven years, a life-long Republican and farmer of Ripley township, died at his home in Carthage last night at eight o'clock. Mr. Stevens was a staunch Republican all his life and was very active in the support of the party. Mr. Stevens retired from active farm work a few years ago.

The deceased was born November fifth, 1854, and would have been fifty-eight years old next month. He is survived by a widow, two daughters, Mrs. Grant Henley and Miss Daisy Stevens of Carthage, and one son, Fred Stevens of Mays. He also leaves three brothers, James, Isaac and Joe, all of Rush county, and one sister, Mrs. Milvay Sweeney of Elwood. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock at the home, conducted by the Rev. C. N. Wilson, pastor of the Carthage Methodist church. Burial will be in Blue River cemetery, near Carthage.

DAMAGE SUIT IS LIKE MARY'S LAMB

Case of Hazel Boring Against George
Bassett For $3000 Follows
Judge Blair Everywhere.

HERE ON CHANGE OF VENUE

The three-thousand-dollar damage suit of Hazel Boring against George Bassett follows Judge Blair where ever he goes, be it in Shelby county or in Rush county. The suit was first filed in his county, the circuit court, in Shelby county. He transferred the case to the superior court which is in session at Shelbyville while the circuit court is open here. One of the parties to the case asked for a change of venue and it was agreed to send it here, which was done today. So Judge Blair will have to hear it after all.

Hazel Boring asked damages because of injuries she sustained when a horse drawing a buggy in which she and Amy Smith were riding was frightened by an automobile driven by the defendant. She alleges she was thrown out and badly hurt, due to the negligence of the auto driver who was signaled, she maintains, to be careful but did not heed the warning. She declares the horse broke loose from the buggy after she and Miss Smith were dumped into the road. The defendant is a brother of Elmer Bassett of Shelbyville, former Republican Sixth district chairman, and he is one of the attorneys who will defend George Bassett.

SIGNS POINT TO A "DARK HORSE"

New York Republicans Apparently Perplexed.

A MIGHTY QUEER CONVENTION

Several Unprecedented Features Mark Today's Gathering at Saratoga, Among Which Are Noted Apathy of Party Leaders, Slim Attendance and Apparent Inability to Unite on Any of the Avowed Candidates.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 25.—In many respects this is a mighty queer Republican convention. In the first place there is the slimmest attendance of any convention within the annals of the party in this state. Usually 5,000 persons attend a Republican state convention, no matter where held in the state or in what month of the year. All told after careful investigation, there are not more than 1,500 present on the field, and when it is recalled that of this number 1,015 are delegates, it will be easily apparent that there is either a lack of interest in the result of this convention or that folks are too busy to leave their vocations to attend a political gathering. Then, too, there is only a meager representation of the notable men of the party.

Senator Root, William Barnes, B. R. Odell, Mr. Ivins, Mr. Berri, Mr. Payne and several others, including Chairman Parson and President Koenig, sat in a spacious room in one of the big cottages of the United States hotel discussing plans to be submitted to the committee on resolutions. Apparently they have taken no interest in the fortunes of the various candidates for governor and for state officers. The open and avowed candidates for governor are ex-Judge Job Hedges, ex-Speaker Wadsworth, and ex-Representative Bennet. But the delegates are doing a good deal of thinking themselves. Many are inclined to insist upon Oscar S. Straus's nomination, even though most of the leaders do not see their way clear to nominate Mr. Straus and preserve the autonomy of their state organization. Ex-Attorney General John C. Davies, however, declared that the Republicans could do no better or wiser act.

While admitting Mr. Straus's voting powers, the leaders object to his nomination in this convention because he has arrayed himself with Colonel Roosevelt in his attacks on the Republican party, both in the state and the nation.

There is a statement going the rounds to the effect that eventually Secretary of War Henry M. Stimson will come to the front as the leading candidate for governor. The strength of Mr. Stimson, it was declared, would be that he more than any other candidate, would represent the constitutional qualities and sane administration of President Taft. On the other hand the delegates who believe in Hedges, Wadsworth and Bennet assert that Mr. Stimson's nomination would not do at all; that the opposition would criticize and attack it as unwarranted evidence of presidential interference in a state convention and that the results on election day would recall 1882, when President Arthur dictated the nomination of his secretary of the treasury, Charles J. Folger.

There is a suspicion, however, that some hitherto unmentioned Republican is to run away with the nomination for governor. This suspicion is indefinable, but it is in the air.

Beck Condemns New Law.
New York, Sept. 25.—In an opinion written by James M. Beck for the American Newspaper Publishers' association, the new federal law affecting newspapers and other periodicals, a rider of the postoffice appropriation bill, approved on Aug. 24, 1912, is set down as "unconstitutional and void."

Auto Bandits Again Busy.

VON BIEBERSTEIN

Germany's "Strong Man" Died Suddenly While Taking Cure.

Berlin, Sept. 25.—Baron Marschall von Bieberstein, German ambassador to London, died suddenly at Badenweiler, Germany, where he was taking the cure. Baron Marschall was the best known diplomat of his time, and since the death of Bismarck he had been known as Germany's "strong man."

MR. TAFT CONFIDENT OF HIS RE-ELECTION

Formal Statement Expresses Certitude of Result.

New York, Sept. 25.—Before leaving for Altoona, President Taft, at the home of his brother, Henry W. Taft, gave out a statement to the newspaper men.

"When I declared, a few weeks ago, that I felt reasonably sure of my own re-election in November and the success of the Republican party," the president said, "I was regarded by some as entirely over- sanguine and unaware of the situation. Today, however, after a number of indications, that the Republican party is still the dominant party, and that the expected growth of Democratic strength has failed to materialize, my early declaration is shown to be entitled to respect. The Republicans necessarily will have a reduced majority over 1908 because of the presence of three tickets in the field, but the Democratic party will suffer, also. The combined strength of the third term party will not be enough to change the ultimate result."

"It is scarcely necessary for me to point to the necessity of re-establishing a Republican majority in the house of representatives. If this is done, I feel confident that I will be able to have placed on the statute books the workmen's compensation law which I urged upon the last session, but which was sent to oblivion by the Democratic house. If the country will give the Republican party a complete victory in its congressional as well as its presidential ticket, a proper tariff revision bill will be speedily effected with knowledge of the facts ascertained by a tariff commission, which will harm no one and remove its present defects."

SHIPPERS FACE GRAVE PROBLEM

Car Shortage Is Giving No End of Concern.

STATE COMMISSION ACTIVE

Co-operating With Railroad Officials, Indiana State Railroad Commission Is Urging Shippers in This State to Do All in Their Power to Facilitate the Movement of Cars by Prompt Loading and Unloading.

Indianapolis, Sept. 25.—The car shortage problem has become grave in Indiana, according to assertions of attaches of the state railroad commission. The shortage all over the country has been the subject of many conferences of railroad officials on all lines for the last month and the situation is growing more serious daily. The state commission some time ago issued a circular to Indiana shippers, urging them to co-operate in the movement to facilitate the movements of cars by quick loading and unloading. Farmers in all parts of the country are unable to get cars to market their grain and coal men and others are as seriously handicapped. According to figures given out by the Indiana commission there was a shortage of 6,400 cars in the states of Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and western Pennsylvania last Saturday. Care on the part of shippers to expedite the movement of any cars billed to or sent out by them should help the situation, according to the attaches of the commission.

FATAL MISTAKE

Lowell Man Thought Neighbor Was Burglar and Shot From Window.

Lowell, Ind., Sept. 25.—Because he could not hear a challenge when he was mistaken for a burglar, William Gray, a deaf mute, was shot and killed. Gray started for his home at night after a day out of town. His home is located between those of Mrs. Breesa Webb and Grover Lloyd. By mistake he went to the door of the Webb home, which is much like his own. Mrs. Webb heard someone trying to unlock the door. She screamed. Her screams roused Lloyd, who went to a window in his own house, saw the man tampering with the lock, thought he was a burglar and shouted. Gray could not hear and continued to work at the lock. Then Lloyd fired to frighten Gray. The bullet struck the cement sidewalk and glanced, entering Gray's skull.

Deaths From "External" Causes.

Indianapolis, Sept. 25.—There were nine murders and forty-four suicides in Indiana in the month of August, according to figures made public by the state board of health. Eight men and one woman were murdered and thirty-five men and nine women committed suicide. Accidents were responsible for 193 deaths, according to the state board's report, making a total of 246 deaths during the month from "external" causes—192 men and 54 women.

The Deadly Kerosene.

Anzola, Ind., Sept. 25.—Clifton Cole is dead, his wife cannot survive, and her mother, Mrs. Butcher, is badly burned as a result of Mr. Cole trying to hurry a fire in a cookstove. The explosion enveloped him in flames. He ran to the bedroom for assistance, and the bed in which his wife was sleeping caught fire. Mrs. Butcher went to Cole's assistance and was badly burned about the neck and arms.

Two Gary Fatalities.

While crossing the street in front of her home, Mary Flaws, eight years old, was run down by an automobile driven by Arthur McCormick, sixteen years old. The child died in McCormick's arms.

JAMES SMITH

Former United States Senator Failed in Desire to Go Back.

PICKED CANDIDATE WINS OUT EASILY

Wilson's Man Carries the New Jersey Primaries.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 25.—Former Representative William Hughes of Paterson, as indicated by returns from the primary elections held throughout New Jersey yesterday, has received the endorsement of a large majority of the Democratic voters for the United States senate.

With a few exceptions the returns justify the conclusion that Hughes carried the various counties by from two to three times the vote cast for former United States Senator Smith, his principal Democratic antagonist. Hughes was running as the picked candidate of Governor Wilson, and Smith was allied with the anti-Wilson forces throughout the state.

The vote for the third Democratic candidate, F. H. McDermott of Newark, was a negligible quantity, as his candidacy was never taken seriously. The Republican preferential vote was cast almost unanimously for United States Senator Briggs, the only member of his party to file a petition.

The third party movement cut no figure in the primary, as there is no provision in the law under which such a party could be recognized either in the preferential vote for United States senator or in the nominations for congress, state senators, members of the legislature and county and city offices, which were also made by the two major parties.

WANTED IN OHIO

Giant Negro Known as the Whispering Burglar, Taken at Mt. Vernon.

Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Sept. 25.—It has developed that Harry Jones, known as the "whispering burglar" to the local police, and who is locked up in the White Plains jail awaiting trial for the robbery of the residence of Frank R. Chambers, is wanted in Ohio for murder. Chief of Police Foley says that the prisoner, according to information he has received, is known as Fred Fawcett, alias Monk Fawcett, alias Harry Harper, and that he is under indictment at Youngstown, O., for the killing of Patrolman Alfred Evans, Nov. 4, 1911.

Jones is a giant negro who is alleged to have served three years in the Columbus (O.) prison.

Teachers as Detectives.

Marion, Ind., Sept. 25.—As a result of "blind user" investigations made by C. O. St. John and J. A. Crawford, teachers at the Marion high school, seven men pleaded guilty to the illegal sale of liquor before Mayor Willson and were fined $50 each. The school teachers said they had no trouble in getting in any of the places, and, while strangers to the proprietors, obtained whisky at each place.

INTEREST SHOWN IN HOME SUNDAY BIEDERWOLF IN SERMON, 'HOME'

Fast Contest Expected When Newcastle and Locals Get Together at South Main Street Park.

RUSHVILLE IS AFTER REVENGE

Maxwell Coming on Special Train Over Big Four Accompanied by 300 Fans.

Great interest is being shown by the fans in the game here Sunday between Newcastle and the locals. The original schedule has been "shot to pieces" by the weather man and the two teams have not been able to play for the last two Sundays. The largest crowd of the season at the local park will greet the Maxwell team.

It will be the first game for some time in this city and the fans are base ball hungry. Besides this Rushville is after revenge for that 4 to 3 defeat and a real base ball game is expected. Manager Maibach will use every effort to capture the game. He has a world of confidence in his team and the lineup will be changed but slightly. To beat the locals Newcastle will have to be in the game all the time and Del Williams knows he has no cunch.

The Newcastle fans will come on a special train over the Big Four. The train will leave Newcastle at noon and stops will be made at Shirley, Knightstown and Carthage. A number of fans from these towns will witness the game. It is expected that 300 Newcastle rooters will accompany the Team. The game is the second of the series for the championship of Eastern Indiana.

The Newcastle Courier says: The base ball schedule of games between the Maxwell and Rushville clubs, which has been put out of commission for two Sundays because of rain, will be resumed next Sunday with a game at Rushville. The Maxwell team will make the trip on a special excursion train and will be accompanied by a big bunch of fans.

Manager Williams of the Maxwells expects to take an unusually strong club to Rushville. Walters or Maxwell will pitch.

MARRIED FOURTH OF JULY

But Fireworks in Bowen Home Didn't End Until Sept. 7.

According to a divorce complaint filed in the circuit court today Isaac G. Bowen and Emma Lushel Bowen were married the Fourth of July, 1910, but the fireworks did not end until September 7, 1912, when they separated. Mr. Bowen charges Mrs. Bowen with cruel and inhuman treatment; that she swore and cursed at him in private and before others and that she used vulgar and profane language so that his home was unbearable. There are no children.

motto, "God bless our home," or "I need Thee every hour."

He asked parents to take the beer out of their cellar, the impure pictures from their walls and the cards from their tables.

"Home sweet home!" exclaimed Dr. Biederwolf after reciting a verse of the famous old song. "Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home. And as I mention that word tonight you are no longer here in this great assemblage of people, but your hearts have gone with a flight swifter than the flash of a sparkling star back to the green hills of Pennsylvania, or to the red soil of Georgia, to the whispering pines of New England, or it may be over the water that rolls between other lands and ours—back to some spot that has been dearer and sweeter than all the rest—back to the place we call home.

"Now, it is a sad fact, but it's true, that home hardly means to us what used to be. The conditions of modern civilization have robbed the home of its rightful place in our lives. Simplicity has given way to complexity; quiet has been superseded by noise; the cottage has deferred to the flat, and even the stone front of the wealthy merchant is for him but little more than ordinary lodging house or quick lunch counter."

"Oh, yes, much occupied fathers and mothers, you will make the mistake that never can be rectified when you begin to neglect the opportunity to make the home what it ought to be," he continued. "You are up early and at it late, if perchance a fortune may be made; but that fortune may prove to be a curse to your children rather than a blessing, and a curse it certainly will prove if while you have been making it you have neglected the better and higher legacy which every parent owes its offspring. No time for the home if the honor that glitters in the distance can be attained, but if it is reached under such circumstances it will be at a price all too dear to pay."
